LOAN DRIVE BREAKING RECORDS

New England Subscriptions Are Above Expectations; All Sections Racing

The nation's great Third Liberty Loan drive banged its way forward in record manner today. A showing of millions in new subscriptions was heralded from every section of the country.

The most complete and comprehensive canvass of the city of Boston in behalf of the loan is now under full headway. About 7,500 men and women are busy, each in an allotted territory. Of these about 4,500 are operating under the city of Boston Committee, headed by Charles F. Weed, who has under him a chairman in every Ward. The city has been sub-divided, so that viewing down through the ward committees to precinct committees and to captains having each a block, or a portion of it in the precinct, every home in Boston will be reached during the month.

Under the Boston trades committee, of which T. B. Gannett is chairman, seventy-five trades committees with 2,000 solicitors are organized to operate in the same thorough-going fashion, each in its own trade. The slogan "Every man should buy with his own trade," is being presented early and often to the entire business contingent of Boston.

CARRY HONOR CERTIFICATES.

Each one of these solicitors carries with him a certificate of honor attached to the application blank. These are numbered and may be separated into two cards. When the application is filled out and signed it shows the names of subscriber and solicitor, the address of the subscriber and date of subscription. The

WIFE FILES NEW BILL AGAINST "BANANA KING"

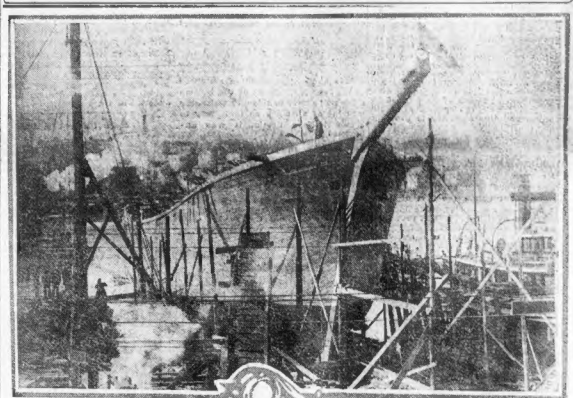
Mrs. Clotilda Arancio, who is suing Frank V. Arancio, the "Banana King," for a divorce, today filed a bill in equity asking that Arancio be enjoined from imposing any restraint upon her personal liberty and with interfering in any way in the conduct of her household at Ocean avenue and Beach street, Revere.

On January 15, 1909, Arancio obtained a divorce from Mary F. Arancio on the ground of desertion. November 20, 1910, he married Clotilda Niccolini of Revere, who had been maid of honor at his first wedding. On March 11, 1912, Mrs. Arancio brought suit for divorce, naming Bertha Willey of Winthrop and Edna Leader of New York. This libel was dismissed on May 16, 1912, and the present libel was brought on October 31, 1912.

FOREST FIRES SPREAD IN WORCESTER COUNTY

Worcester, April 9.—Forest fires are causing heavy damage in the central and western parts of the State. Wardens have called upon the people to exert every possible care against starting fires. There have been several fires in Rochdale and Oxford since Saturday. Peter Valesa was arrested charged with setting a bonfire without a permit.

CHELSEA CONTRIBUTES ANOTHER VESSEL TO UNCLE SAM'S MERCHANT MARINE



Two hundred and fourteen-foot schooner launched at Green shipyard, Chelsea, today, taking the water. The vessel will carry four masts and has a cargo capacity of 2500 tons. Below is Miss Sarah A. Green, daughter of the late Richard T. Green, who was proprietor of the building company. Miss Green was sponsor for the craft.

One more vessel in the steadily increasing number built to beat the Kaiser was launched today at the yards of the Richard T. Green Company at Marginal street, Chelsea.

It is to be a four-masted schooner. The sponsor was Miss Sarah A. Green, daughter of the late Richard T. Green. Whistles sounded and horns were blown when the hull took the water.

The schooner is 214 feet long, 20 feet beam, with a carrying capacity of 2,500 tons. It took seven months to build the vessel, which has not been sold as yet. Naval officers believe that the schooner could be used to advantage in government service.

Among the throng who watched the launching were Commandant William R. Rush of the Navy Yard, Commander James E. Baily, naval constructor; Commander William T. Bass; Mayor Edward E. Willard of Chelsea, Rev. William Powers of St. Rose's Church, and Ex-Mayor Zebedee E. Cliff of Somerville, president of the Boothbay Ship Building Company.

EXTRA BASEBALL AMERICAN OUT NEXT MONDAY

New England Sport Followers Will Get the News on the Day It Happens

This is the time of BIG THINGS.

BIG VALUE IN QUICK GIFTS TO FUND

This is the chance for parents, brothers, sisters and other relatives, to say nothing of the sweethearts, of the men at Camp Devens, to do something for them which will be of more benefit to them than probably anything they could do. And those who do that something quickly, do it doubly well.

Those friends of the men at camp who have been up there to football games know how poorly off the cantonments are in regard to athletic equipment. Where games have been played on a flat field only those in

9,737 MEN CALLED TO AYER

Camp Devens Prepares for Reception of New Draftees Late This Month

By WILLIAM FLYNN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, April 9.—A total of 9,737 more draftees are scheduled to arrive at this cantonment during the five-day period commencing April 20. Of this number, 6,944 are white and 2,793 are negroes from New England, New York and the South.

The quotas from the various States as announced today are as follows: Massachusetts, 5,604, white and 266 colored; Maine, 819 white, Vermont, 421 white; Florida, 2,238 colored; Connecticut, 269 colored; New York, 184 colored; Rhode Island, 35 colored and New Hampshire 2 colored.

It was announced at division headquarters today that the contemplated plan to quarter many of the colored draftees in tents would not be put into effect, as there is said to be room enough in the depot brigade and the overflow barracks to take care of all the men who will come here in the next draft quota.

Privates Miller Clifton of F Company, 23rd Engineer Regiment, died at the base hospital today of pneumonia. His home was in Greenville, Texas, and he was admitted to the hospital on February 9.

One officer in each organization in the cantonment is to be appointed to handle all war savings stamps and subscriptions to the third Liberty Loan, for the men in that organization. Although there will not be any campaign to boost this loan among the soldiers at this cantonment, many of them have signified their intention of subscribing to the new bond issue.

GOTHAM-LONDON FLIGHT STORY IN WALL STREET

New York, April 8.—Reports that an American flier had made a successful trip from New York to London with twelve passengers today startled New York and caused a burst of excitement and attempts to verify the story.

In the Wall Street district it was understood that the original tip regarding the performance came in a cable to a brokerage office. No confirmation was obtainable and even the leaders in aerial science professed to have no idea that such a test had been contemplated.

HEAVY TONE DISPLAYED IN THE STOCK MARKET

New York, April 8.—In the stock market today the majority of issues showed a heavy tone. Pressure against St. Paul caused the common to drop ¾ to 39¾, while the preferred sold down 1⅞ to 69. Canadian Pacific fell 1¼ to 135¼. Fractional losses were sustained in other railroad issues.

Studebaker declined 1¾ to 57¾, and rallied to 58½, while General Motors dropped 1⅝ to 116¼, and Texas Company at 147 was off 3 points. Distillers Securities yielded to 42¼, moving up to 42⅝. Steel common held around 90½.

Liberty second 4s after declining to 95.96 rallied to above 96.

Lines in Montdidier Sector Under Heavy Hun Bombardment

London, April 9.—A lull developed in the infantry fighting on the French section of the Picardy battle front last night, but the Germans continued to bombard furiously.

The French War Office at Paris, announced at noon that heavy artillery duels had developed on both sides alongt the front north of Montdidier and from Montdidier to Noyon.

In accordance with orders, advanced French troops on the southern bank of the Oise withdrew to previously prepared positions southwest of Coucy forest and south of Coucy-Le-Chateau, the communique added.

"The artillery was very active on both sides along the front north of Montdidier and in the Montdidier-Noyon sector," the official communication stated. "There were no infantry operations. On the left bank of the Oise River there were intermittent bombardments.

"In accordance with orders certain advanced troops withdrew to prepared positions southwest of Coucy and south of Coucy-Le-Chateau. German forces were continually kept under our fire and sustained heavy losses during the course of the operations.

"Enemy surprise attacks northwest of Rheims were repulsed.

"Other enemy attempts against our lines at Eparges and Reillon and north of Bonhomme were repulsed.

"Elsewhere the night was quiet."

The Germans continue to shell the British lines on the Picardy battle front and the positions to the north of the battle zone with great violence.

Beginning early today the Germans laid down a heavy bombardment all the way from La Bassee canal to a point just south

3 Children Hungry in Court Because of Neglect

A pathetic tale of poverty and neglect was unfolded today in the Domestic Relations Court before Judge Murray when Samuel Cavello, thirty-one, of No. 8 Lindall place, West End appeared charged with non-support of his wife, Theresa and three children, ten, three, and thirteen months.

The mother told the court that had nothing to eat for two days and that they had to remain in bed today hungry. Patrolman Dunleavy, who made the arrest, told Judge Murray that Cavello had told him last Thursday that it is five months since he had worked or contributed to the support of his family. Dunleavy said that he had offered to furnish work to the man and had found two jobs for him, but that Cavello had refused to accept them.

Judge Murray sentenced him for six months, suspended with the understanding that Cavello find work.

LIEUT. DROHAN RESUMES DUTY AS COURT OFFICER

Report Ireland Is to Be Granted Home Rule

Home rule for Ireland probably be granted to Ireland, according to reports that reached Boston by cable today. The Irish convention, according to these reports, has found a solution for the problem which, it is believed, will reconcile the various factions in Ireland. For the rights of Ulster is included in the Home Rule arrangement.

The proposed legislation establishes a parliament in Dublin, and gives the executive of Ireland power in responsible to this parliament. New economic arrangements are made that will relieve greatly the economic situation in Ireland, it is expected.

HUN SPIES' INTRIGUE EXPOSED

Dr. Sperry of Syracuse University Bares Plots of German Alliance and Its Tentacles

By International News Service.

Washington, April 9.—Germany is today carrying on a campaign to embroil the United States and Mexico, according to testimony before a sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee today by Dr. Earle Sperry of Syracuse University.

There is a German organization in Mexico now which has for its sole purpose the raising of war between the United States and Mexico, the witness said. The witness has been engaged in government work during the past winter and has had access to the records of the Department of Justice and his testimony is considered as official by the committee.

The Mexican organization of German Amity is engaged in arousing anti-American feeling is known as the League of German Citizens, Dr. Sperry told the committee.

TENTACLES THROUGH NATION.

Tentacles, however, have been spread over the United States as in every nation, Dr. Sperry declared. These branches of the Pan-German League were founded in this country and propaganda in their behalf was carried on by Dr. Karl Peters.

Church societies have carried on the work of "Kaiserism" in the United States, and both Catholic and Protestant clergymen have done much work in instilling German ideas in their congregations.

The following organizations were founded by Dr. Sperry as being for the purpose of carrying on German propaganda in the United States: The American Embassy Conference, the Friends of Peace, the American Neutrality League, the American Independence Union, the American Truth Society and Labor's National Peace Council.

ACCUSES THE ALLIANCE.

All of these organizations were fostered and supported by members of the National German-American Alliance, Dr. Sperry said, with the purpose of having the support of individuals rather than of the organization, that the organization might have clear skies.

As indicative of the success of the German propaganda in this country there are at the present 421 German schools in the United States.

HOME RULE BILL REPORT LAID ON TABLE

London, April 9.—The Government won 97 divisions as far as then attacks in the great Irish battle, Premier Lloyd George told the House of Commons this afternoon in a speech introducing the man-power measure for raising 1,000,000 men. The Premier added that the situation on Irish Home Rule had been laid on the table. Referring again to the German drive, he said: "Sir Henry Wilson's conclusions, reached some months ago and during an offensive, have been verified almost in detail. It had been regarded as possible that the enemy might be able to break through half the depth of the front attacked."

of Armentieres, the British War Office reported at noon. German artillery was active also in the region of Villers-Bretenneux and Merricourt L'Abbe. Armentieres is on the Franco-Belgian border.

La Bassee canal lies between five and six miles north of Lens. The ground between the two places has seen some of the hardest fighting of the war.

"Early this morning the enemy's artillery showed great activity from La Bassee canal to the south of Armentieres," the official statement said. "There was heavy hostile shelling in the neighborhood of Villers-Bretenneux and Merricourt L'Abbe."

The night communique of the French War Office told of the heavy pressure which the Germans had been exerting in the district southwest of St. Gobain forest.

"During the day enemy pressure continued north of the Ailette River in the region of the lower Coucy forest," the statement said.

"The advanced sections of our troops resisted and hindered the advance of the enemy, who was in superior numbers, inflicting heavy losses upon him."

Two German Objectives

The British War Office told of concentrated German artillery fire in the region of Bouequoy, nine miles north of Albert, which has been the scene of violent and bloody fighting in the gigantic battle of Picardy. There is a salient about six miles wide at its base, lying south of Bouequoy, and the commanding in that district indicates a resumption of infantry fighting with two objectives in view:

1—Straightening of the German line.

2—A drive due northward, which would menace the works defending Arras on the south.

Military critics express the opinion that when the Germans renewed their infantry operations on the northern end of the battle line pressure against the French would relax and the Germans would take time to dig themselves in, consolidate their positions and reform their divisions that had been shattered by the French fire. In the latest stage of the fighting south of the Oise River the Germans claimed to have driven the French to the western bank of the Ailette and to have captured Verneil.

(At the point where the Germans claimed to have driven the French across the Ailette the stream is about fifteen miles north of the Aisne River.)

To Push Toward Sea

The tenacity with which the allied lines have held, especially north of the Somme River, has upset the German plan of campaign, and the violence of the gunfire along the northern end of the line indicates that the Germans intend to exert themselves to the utmost in an effort to push past Arras in the direction of the channel coast.

Allied airmen reported that the Germans had massed large numbers of men east and south of Arras, and from the intensity of the drum fire it was evident that enormous numbers of cannon were being employed.

There is a range of hills in the Bouequoy sector that the Germans must take before they can find ground favorable to their operations, and it is a foregone conclusion that their attacks in that zone are going to cost them greater losses than they have sustained in the fighting elsewhere.

To Give Blow for Blow

The British and French commanders have been preparing for a renewal of the German drive on a big scale, and are ready to meet the Teutons with blow for blow.

General Foch, the generalissimo of the allied forces (including the Americans), is noted for his ability to parry heavy blows with small forces and for his ingenuity in saving his men from needless losses. Even with Germany making her supreme effort of the war, the people of England and France are not only confident of victory, but are satisfied that the allied losses will be negligible in comparison with the magnitude of the engagement.

An evidence of superior fighting qualities of the allies and their better generalship was given in the recent burst of fighting between the Somme and Avre Rivers, when allied forces often repulsed enemy groups six times their own numbers. This was not a necessity, however, as the allies are holding great masses of men and guns in reserve all along the line.

Bolo Confesses and Is Granted a Reprieve

By International News Service.

Paris, April 9.—Bolo Pasha, who was to have been executed this morning, has confessed, according to an official announcement. He has been granted a reprieve so that his assertions might be verified.

No disclosure has been made as to details of his statement, other than it vitally affects other treason cases now pending. Bolo has now another lease of life but just how long his respite will last will depend largely upon how important and true are his statements which are now undergoing an official verification.

New American Forces Rushed to France Will Be Trained in 30 Days

By International News Service.

Washington, April 9.—American troops on their way to France will be ready to go into action within thirty days after arrival. This is the outside limit which General Foch deems necessary for finishing their already thorough training.

They will be employed chiefly by the allied strategic reserve—the great army of manoeuvres created by the Inter-Allied Council at the suggestion of the American chief of staff, General Tasker H. Bliss. The strategic reserve is counted on to lead to the allied counter-offensive. The men are young, strong, physically perfect and eager to fight, and is accordingly going into action while still fresh from historic operations.

Skeleton brigades and regiments of the Regular army have been broken up to the filling the strength by British and Irish reserves. Well-informed officials in the War Department have stated today that such a plan is under consideration.

ABSORPTION UNDER WAY.

They said there was nothing new in the suggestion that fresh be brigaded with American divisions, that it was several months old, and that lately supported to be under consideration in England. Enthusiastic willingness from the Irish is anticipated.

Major General Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff, Crowell, indicating the important role in sight for American troops in France, stated that already there had been 20 American flag troops by French and British divisions in under way, and that Commissioned officers of the Regular army and scheduled to go soon will be brigaded similarly.

Through the War Department the decision of the allied high command to make quick use of the American army can army caused great satisfaction. Army officers related with pride that the allies' high command regards the American material virtually on a par strength with the allied forces in the field. They stressed the thirty-day finishing-off period allotted to General Pershing's men in France and scheduled to go soon will be brigaded similarly.

ARMY SKELETONIZE UNITS.

The expectation that the American regular units may be skeletonized and then filled out with draft units was also featured military discussions. According to War Department heads there are no better fighting forces on the Western front than the American regulars. This conviction is put forth in the present crisis not as braggadocio, but as expert judgment confirmed by reports from high allied sources.

All interest at the War Department today in the battle situation in France, apart from the movement of American troops in the battle zone, centred in the vigorous German thrusts against the French along the Oise. These attacks were given three-fold importance emphasized even by the desperate efforts of the Germans to drive through at Amiens. The significance of the French and German activity on the south bank of the Oise as seen by American military experts is:

THE GERMAN AIMS.

1—A great effort in sight to protect the exposed German left flank.

4—If the Germans succeeded in sweeping back the French now facing them in the southeast, strategists of the War Department foresee fighting on a scale equal, if not greater, than not under way in the days of the German drive. But the French are expected to throw back the attacking German divisions and make short work of this ambitious effort of the enemy. Any fighting on a great scale that may develop on the Oise end of the battle line is expected to be precipitated by the allies.

Army officers today conceded the Germans' virtual possession of Amiens, but minimized the results of the achievements.

GERMAN GUNS BLAZE WAY FOR DRIVE

British and French Under Heavy Fire as Huns Extend Front of Battle

By FRANK CHARLTON,
International News Service Cable Editor.

Following their direct pressure against the allied positions east of Amiens, the Germans have continued to bombard along the Picardy battle front and in sectors north of the battle zone with the utmost violence.

A concentrated fire is being directed along the British lines between Lens and La Bassee canal. Farther south, at the point of the German wedge, the Germans have shelled the allied positions in the region of Villers-Bretenneux and of Merricourt L'Abbe.

On the southern side of the salient, where the Germans are holding the line, the Germans, at extreme losses to themselves forced the French to retire slightly in the sector of the Oise and Allette rivers, east of Noyon.

PLAN ANOTHER HEAVY BLOW.

The battle is raging into another period of stagnation, so far as the infantry fighting is concerned, but there is every indication that the Germans are preparing for another blow north of Arras, which will extend the battle field to a length of more than 120 miles.

It is not yet plain whether the Germans hope to begin an offensive with a view to trying to reach the coast of the English Channel. But it is becoming more and more evident that the Germans will try to widen their salient by striking from the northern and southern sides, so that the dangers of a great flank attack by the Anglo-French armies will be averted.

However, by widening the northern end of their salient the Germans would naturally extend their lines toward the coast and at the same time would menace the British hold on Vimy Ridge and Arras and strengthen the German grip on Lens.

GERMANS STILL BAFFLED.

There is a possibility that the Germans may deliver a double blow in the next series of battles, if Arras is their immediate objective. South of Bouquoy there is more than ordinary fighting into the British front, and the Germans might try to accomplish two results at one stroke by a drive in that region. If successful they would straighten their line and at the same time screen nearer to Arras the British reinforcements as endorsement of their own initiative of the fighting quality of these troops.

MAY SKELETONIZE UNITS.

The expectation that the American regular units may be skeletonized and then filled out with draft units was also featured military discussions. According to War Department heads there are no better fighting forces on the Western front than the American regulars. This conviction is put forth in the present crisis not as braggadocio, but as expert judgment confirmed by reports from high allied sources.

SILVER URGED TO PAY HUGE TRADE BALANCES

Washington, April 9.—The settlement of huge trade balances adverse to the United States by payment in silver bullion instead of gold was proposed today in a bill introduced by Senator Pittman of Nevada. Secretary McAdoo indorses the bill.

The measure provides for the breaking up and melting of approximately $350,000,000 standard silver dollars lying unused in the treasury by the retirement of an equal number of outstanding silver certificates and the substitution of a like number of Federal Reserve Bank notes in denominations of one and two dollars, which the banks are required to deposit of certificates of indebtedness or one-year gold notes placed with the treasurer of the United States.

EPISCOPAL WOMEN ASK RIGHT TO VOTE

Can You Suggest a Popular Name for N. E. Soldiers?

What shall be the popular name of New England's Seventy-Sixth Division, now at Camp Devens?

Everyone has heard of the famous "Rainbow Division." Now the Eighty-Second Division, at Camp Gordon, Georgia, has been christened the "All-American Division." There are a large number of Massachusetts men at Camp Gordon.

New England's Own, the Seventy-sixth Division at Devens, deserves as good a name as any military unit in the country. What shall it be?

'HELP WIN WAR' IS RED CROSS SLOGAN

Over 1,600 Women Present as Two-Day Convention Opens in Boston

Sixteen hundred women from all over New England, delegates to the two-day convention of the New England division of the American Red Cross, at the opening session today sounded a note of enthusiastic aid to help America win the war and to put the Red Cross over the top.

It was an enthusiastic meeting. The session was held at the Copley-Plaza.

"From forty thousand members, the enrollment in the Red Cross has increased to more than four hundred and sixty-five thousand since the war began," said James Jackson, head of the division. "And the responsibility towards the rapid growth of the work must be realized equally by each and every one of these members.

"Since the war began, too, the attitude of the country in general has changed. The Red Cross has proved its worth. In spite of all difficulties it has risen to the necessity of its being and this necessity is growing all the time."

MORE NURSES NEEDED.

The nursing service, according to Mr. Jackson, and to Miss Elizabeth Ross who spoke afterward on the subject, has been enrolling 1,000 a month, but before the first of June 2,000 more are needed. The lack of nurses is one of the severest problems of the Red Cross work.

"To qualify for such a nurse, a woman must be a graduate, and she should be registered. And the number of girls already in the pre-clinic training is not nearly enough to supply the demand," said Miss Ross.

James Hallowell reminded the delegates that the work of the Red Cross had only been authorized by the government to work in the camps and districts since the 15th of February and that in this short time the work that they have done has met with tremendous success.

WORK FOR THE WOMEN.

Mrs. Richard Saltonstall, in speaking of the surgical dressing work, said: "The responsibility of saving the wounded rests on you women. You must work and work, whether you are tired or not. Suppose there are only enough dressings for half of the wounded that are brought in, and suppose that your boy is among those that cannot be treated, because there are not enough dressings. That is how you must feel about it. For if it isn't your boy, it is some one else's boy, and in any case, he is fighting for you."

Mrs. William Draper spoke also on the importance of the work women are doing in the war, and emphasized the fact that they must do more now. "It is our share of the burden the boys are bearing for us, and we must realize it and uphold it with all the strength there is in us."

Tonight the delegates will go to the Hippodrome Theatre, where they will see the films that the British government gave to the Red Cross.

COCOA $3 A CUP IN FIRE AT TEMPLETON

Templeton, April 9.—Three dollars for a cup of cocoa sounds like Europe in war time, but that's what a Templeton boy paid. Wilford Johnson and some other boys had built a cabin in the woods. Trying to make cocoa he set the cabin on fire, burning his sweater and coat, in which was the $3.

HUN PATROL IS RIDDLED BY U. S. GUNS

American, Ordered to Surrender, Slays German Sergeant and Escapes

By BERT FORD,
With the American Army in the Toul Sector, April 9.—An attack on an American outpost by a German patrol started the liveliest artillery exchange that has taken place in the sector northwest of Toul in many weeks.

A sentry sighted several crouching figures in No Man's Land, and his challenge drew a volley. The Americans replied with rifle volleys and machine gun fire, driving off the patrol.

Heavy shelling by the Germans which followed this clash brought a scathing artillery return from the American batteries.

The enemy dropped more shells in this sector Sunday than had been fired in the previous two months. Harassing the American front lines has been costly to the enemy. Every night raid has been defeated.

A German soldier was killed and others were routed when they were attacked by an American patrol on the Lorraine front.

After returning to their trenches the Americans decided to go back for the dead soldier's body. They did so, although the trip was made under fire from the German trenches.

A search of the pockets revealed information as to the German unit opposite the Americans.

An eighteen-year-old private in an American ration detail, who was ordered to surrender at one point, emptied his automatic, killing the sergeant in command of the Germans.

He returned to his trench with three fingers missing, due to the explosion of a German grenade. He was lifted to the shoulders of his mates and escorted to a dressing station.

MORE JEWISH SOLDIERS GOING TO PALESTINE

Five hundred prospective members of the Jewish Battalion of the British army will arrive in this city Thursday morning at 8 o'clock on their way to Windsor, Nova Scotia. It was announced today.

They will come from New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and the West and will be joined by about fifty Jewish residents of this city. The whole detachment will leave for Windsor at 7.50 o'clock Thursday night.

Upon arriving at the South Station the men will be served luncheon by the Committee for the Jewish Legion. At 11 o'clock they will march to Park square, and forming behind the tank Britannia, will parade to the Common, where a mass meeting will be held.

CALL ON KAHN TO LEAD DRAFT FIGHT IN HOUSE

Washington, April 9.—The administration seals has called upon Julius Kahn, Republican, to lead the fight for the enactment of draft legislation in the House. Kahn led the fight for the passage of the original selective draft law a year ago. The new draft quota bill, to which there is powerful opposition in the House, will come up for consideration Thursday.

Snowstorm Forecast; Béware, Ye Early Gardeners.

A snowstorm for Boston and vicinity tonight or tomorrow was predicted by Weather Forecaster Smith today.

This statement is respectfully referred to suburbanites who have allowed their furnace fires to go out and are contemplating planting their back yard gardens.

It is the revenge of New England weather for being crowded out of the public mind by the big and contributory troubles.

The forecast is:

Probable showers, with snow flurries tonight or Wednesday morning; colder tonight and Wednesday; moderate northerly winds.

CANCEL VACATION AT HARVARD, SAYS CRIMSON

A vacationless college year is called for at Harvard by the Crimson, the undergraduate daily, as a war-time measure, and editorially that paper today suggests the immediate consideration of such a plan by the authorities.

The Crimson says in part: "The all-year college term has worked well in this section of the country. Harassing the American front lines has been costly to the enemy. Every night raid has been defeated.

The Crimson says in part: "The all-year college term has worked well in this section of Europe and is now needed in America. The long summer vacation must not remain an obstacle to those who desire no delay. Of the many young men who no doubt will soon enter the national service, not a few desire to go as far as possible in college before answering the call. It is the duty of our universities to provide such training as is but in accordance with the whole spirit of the time."

MILITARY TRAINING ENFORCED AT BROWN

Providence, April 9.—Every freshman student at Brown next Fall will have to undergo military or naval training if he wishes to stay in college, unless he enters the engineering school, where such training is optional. Members of the Brown Training Corps must re-elect military courses the coming year.

WORCESTER MANAGER FOR MILK PRODUCERS

Worcester, April 9.—Milk producers will soon name a district manager to look after the Worcester market. His duty will be to see that dealers pay all farmers the same prices for the same grade of milk and that dairymen believe dealers and producers are lived up to.

ARMY NOTES.

The Rev. Lyman Rollins, chaplain of the 101st United States Infantry, writes to Boston friends that Massachusetts boys are anxious to go over the top. "Lemuel-chusetts has proved to be proud of the regiment from Boston and vicinity."

Lieutenant-Colonel F. C. Jamieson, commanding the Eastern Division of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission in the United States, will attend tonight's performance of "Getting Together," a war play being produced at the Majestic Theatre, under the auspices of the Mission and the United States Army and Navy officials.

DRIVE FOR LOAN STIMULATES RECRUITING

Officers at Army, Navy and Marine Headquarters Are Kept on the Jump

Recruits for the Navy are coming fast, according to Chief-boatswain John Paul O'Neil, recruiting officer at the station, No. 146 Tremont street. Since the Liberty Loan started, it has put some "punch" into the young men.

"They're coming! We have our hands full, but we can accept them all right," declared O'Neil. "It's mighty fine to see the mothers cheering their sons on to enlist."

The enrollments and enlistments are:

Enlistments—Samuel Kelly, Worcester; Harcourt Bailey, Birmingham, Ala.; Andrew Patterson Walker, Manchester, N. H.

BUSY AT ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

Army recruiting is starting up too. It was lively at the recruiting station on Tremont row all day. The following were sent to different units:

Quartermaster Corps—Orrills W. Fuller, West Bridgewater; Benedatte Carfestese, Brockton; Charles H. Douglas, Somerville; William F. Carroll, Roxbury; Raymond C. Rose, Lynn; Frank M. White, Roxbury; George E. McDonough, Roxbury; Joseph F. Haggerty, Lynn; George H. Jeffrey, Lynn.

Engineers—James W. Bare, Quincy; Edward A. McAuley, South Boston; Harold C. Varney, Hudson.

Tank Service—George A. Collins, Haverhill.

Ordnance Corps—Henry Doyle, North Brookfield.

Field Artillery—Francis J. Black South Boston; Frank L. Bowen, Jamaica Plain; George L. Lavoie, Boston.

Coast Artillery Corps—Alexander Pesos, Boston; Salter Sutherland, Roslindale; Walter F. Libby, Amesbury; Howard G. Sawyer, Boston; Edward L. Cutchett, Lynn; Elmer H. Hall, Lynn; Edward P. Mosley, Lynn.

Infantry—John D. McIntyre, East Boston; Leo D. Nelson, Boston; James E. Connors, Roxbury; Ralph P. Roberts, Stoneham.

U. S. Army Ambulance Service—Andrew G. McGill, Rockland.

SEVEN NEW MARINES.

The marine corps recruiting station in this city got many young men for its service. Out of thirty nine, only seven were accepted. They were:

Philip C. Freitag, Hartford, Conn.; George H. Bennett, Strafford, Vt.; Alfred J. Nickerson, Boston; Norman E. MacDonald, Boston; Joseph C. Bonnell, Boston; Thomas F. Delaney, Roslindale; George F. Graham, Revere.

CLEAR UP "SPY" RUMOR AT FORT McKINLEY

Portland, Me., April 9.—A rumor that two German spies had been shot by the sentries at Fort McKinley, Portland Harbor, was explained today when officials announced that the story originated with the deaths of two dredged mines, both suffering with delirium tremens. One died of heart failure, but the other ran several hundred yards and plunged headlong over a high cliff into the sea and was drowned. Both were drafters recently sent to this training camp from the West. A sentry fired a shot in the air to stop the maddened soldier in his flight.

Devens Baseball Fund Will Solve Big Problem, Captain Declares

By CAPTAIN W. W. COWGILL, C. A. C., D. O. L., Aide-de-Camp, Camp Devens

I WISH to heartily endorse the activity which the Boston AMERICAN is now carrying on in the collection of funds for the erection of bleachers on our baseball grounds. These bleachers will add a great deal to the enjoyment of the games by allowing our men to attend in comfort to see the games sitting down instead of having to stand, and to see the games in larger numbers than otherwise possible. It will cause men who would not otherwise do so, to attend and automatically pick up the spirit of the game. As Division Athletic Officer last Fall, one of the greatest difficulties I faced was the finding of a suitable place for staging any athletic contest which I endeavored to hold. There were no open places about the camp in those days and no place whatever for handling a crowd.

I always found that the men in the cantonment were greatly interested in athletics, and always attended in large numebrs at the football games, track meets, or whatever was being held. Now, since we have cleared the main parade ground of the cantonment, we have a large open space suitable for staging such affairs, and I hope to see in the near future, due to your rapidly growing fund, the problem of properly seating and handling the crowd eradicated. I understand that a number of the major league teams have already signified their willingness to come to the cantonment for the purpose of furnishing healthy amusement for the men by exhibition games during the coming Summer. The erection of the stands renders this now entirely possible.

MILLIONS SWELL TOTAL IN RACE FOR HONOR FLAGS IN LIBERTY LOAN

Certificate of Honor.

No. ....

This certifies that ..... has applied for the purchase of ..... Dollars of the United States Government's Third Liberty Loan and has agreed to present this certificate at the ..... Bank and complete the application.

Liberty Loan Committee of New England, N. Penrose Hallowell.

No solicitor is expected, under any circumstances, to accept money from a subscriber. This is distinctly prohibited. All that the canvasser is instructed to do is to endeavor to get the subscription. The subscriber pays his money only to the bank at which he decides to make the subscription.

DISTRIBUTE TO BANKS.

These filled applications are returned to the headquarters of the Boston Committee, where they will be sorted and distributed among the banks and trust companies named by the subscriber.

On the part of the bank, the committee has asked that if in five days after the date of the pledge the subscriber does not call to complete the subscription, the bank or trust company shall notify him asking the completion of the pledge. If three days later the pledge is not completed it goes back to the Liberty Loan Committee of Boston and from that to the canvasser.

Owing to the competition for the flags to be given to all cities and towns which have exceeded their allotment of the loan, clerks and officials at New England headquarters, No. 30 Kilby street, are busy checking up the grist of letters and telegrams bringing a grist of oversubscriptions to the loans.

HONOR FLAGS SENT OUT.

A large third Liberty loan flag bearing three blue stars on a white field surrounded by red has been mailed to each of thirty-eight cities and towns which reported oversubscriptions.

From Washington today came word that the Treasury Department has been flooded with protests today as a result of Secretary McAdoo's ruling prohibiting the announcement of unofficial estimates of Liberty Loan subscriptions. The protests came from the most part from newspaper publishers who complained that the drastic action might jeopardize the success of the loan. They pointed out that the publication of the estimates showing the progress of the loan inspired not only the workers but the prospective subscribers to more enthusiastic efforts, and that if they were forced to "work in the dark," much of the zest of the campaign would be sacrificed.

It was said at the Treasury Department today that every effort would be made to secure for announcement at the earliest possible moment the totals of initial payments in the various Federal reserve districts. These would reveal the amounts of the bonds taken, but will not be available for several days, it was admitted.

Secretary McAdoo is scheduled to speak today at Raleigh, N. C.

O'Meara Praises Work of Policemen in the Big Parade

Members of the Boston police force were highly praised for their work on the Liberty Loan parade in a general order issued by Commissioner Stephen O'Meara.

The commissioner stated that the majority of policemen carried the burden of holding back the crowds after a week of extended hours spent in fixing. The order follows.

The commissioner congratulates the force on its successful performance of a great piece of police work in carring the Third Liberty Loan procession. It was the largest ever held in Boston and seemed to me probably the greatest number of persons, but there was virtually no accident, disorder or delay. Those who marched and those who stood in the street had long periods of rest before and afterwards, but of the thousand or more policemen through whose efforts the procession was made possible, the great majority carried this extra burden between full tours of police duty at the end of a week of extended hours spent in fixing. I rejoice that the experiences of the people of Boston have been such that they expect from their police such service as this, but it is right that the members of the force should know that what the service means to them in labor and fatigue is understood and appreciated by those in authority over them.

Loan Sidelights

Ware Liberty Loan committees finished off their parade on the first day of the drive with a patriotic meeting in the Town Hall. In the sale of bonds at its close the women's committee, Miss Carolyn N. Tucker, chairman, disposed of $12,750. High school pupils are listing every person over eighteen years of age in the town, for the benefit of men and women who are to make the house to house canvass.

* * *

Gloucester's Woman's Liberty Loan committee, Mrs. Robert T. Babson, chairman, has a total of $16,350 to its credit for the first two days of the drive.

* * *

Thomas Wood Stevens' patriotic masque, "The Drawing of the Sword," will have its first presentation under the auspices of the Massachusetts Woman's Liberty Loan committee at Howley, on Tuesday evening, April 16. The Howley committee, Mrs. W. H. Keyes, chairman, is in charge of the presentation, with Miss Margaret Eagen of Boston as director.

* * *

The town of Rockland, Mass., Liberty Loan Committee secured subscriptions at the first committee meeting last night, with twenty-five members present, of $133,000. The quota is $451,000.

* * *

Burlington, Vt., wires the committee that against a quota of $808,000 subscriptions already reach $915,000, with the total number of individual subscribers far above the 2 per cent. of population required by the conditions of the honor flag competition.

An enthusiastic meeting of Americans of German ancestry in Gorman Hall, New Bedford, was addressed by Prof. Frank Vogel, chairman of the state committee of Americans of German ancestry, and by the Rev. Father Bernhardt, rector of St. John's German Lutheran Church of New Bedford. The Arbeiter Leidertafel Society voted to buy $2,500 worth of bonds. One hundred people in the audience pledged themselves to subscribe. Of the 216 members of the local German society mentioned above, there were only three who were not actual citizens of the United States.

* * *

Citizens of Guam, in the Philippine Islands, have subscribed to $10,000 of the third Liberty Loan, through the First National Bank of Boston. A similar subscription was made on the second loan. The Guam subscriptions do not signify that they have yet won any title to an honor flag.

* * *

The Moxie Company, $55,450; L. P. Hollander & Co., $100,000; Shawmut Steamship Co., $100,000; lumber trade, $10,000; coal trade, $55,000.

The department store booths report:

Continental Clothing Company, No. 21, $2,400; Houghton & Dutton, No. 14, $700; T. D. Whitney Company, No. 5, $150; Kennedy Company, No. 1, $1,000; Bigelow & Company, No. 2, $100; Magrane Houston Co., No. 3, $1,000; Company, No. 8, $1,450; Shepard Norwell Company, No. 10, * * *

Arlington's third Liberty Loan campaign will begin tonight with a rally in the town hall at which the Rev. Laughlin MacLean Watt, former chaplain of the Gordon Highlanders in France, will speak. A band concert will precede the rally.

Governor McCall will speak at a patriotic meeting in Bridgeport, Ct., tomorrow night. He and Governor Holcomb of Connecticut will be the chief speakers.

What Is the Liberty Loan?

IT'S forts and it's ships and it's shining guns. It's squadrons that sweep the sea. It's all of the circling band of steel that shall keep all the home shores free. It's grub and it's warmth for the sailor lad, far out on the wintry foam—for the brave jack tar, as he fights afar; it's the good old "Money from Home."

WHAT IS THE LIBERTY LOAN?

It's rifle and helm and it's bayonet, it's shovel and shard and shell, for the soldier boy in olive drab, out there on the edge of hell. It's the soaring wings of the whirring planes that battle on high alone. For the lad who is daring "Over There" it's the good old "Money from Home."

WHAT IS THE LIBERTY LOAN?

It's succor and life for a bleeding world. It's the glimmer of Peace at dawn. It's the strength of a mighty arm to strike. It's the gleam of a great sword, drawn; but, more than all, it's the pledge of love to the lads whom we call "Our Own," to the boys on land, afloat, on high. It's the good old "Money from Home."

BUY THAT LIBERTY BOND TODAY!

The above poem was written by the late Ralph E. McMillin of the Boston AMERICAN staff, who did some highly effective publicity work to aid the success of the first and second loans.

The poem has gone all over the country, has been reprinted in publications in many cities, and has been revived by the New England Liberty Loan Publicity Committee to be used with many other features in putting across the third Liberty Loan.

Mr. McMillin, who was known to thousands as a writer of the highest order, poet and baseball expert, is dead, but his work goes on.

DANIELS COMES TO REVIEW BIG PAGEANT

Navy Secretary Will Be Guest of Governor During Military Loan Demonstration

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels will review the Liberty Loan military parade in this city on April 13, when thousands of men from Camp Devens, sailors from the navy yard and enlisted men attached to harbor forts will participate in the big demonstration. Mr. Daniels will be guest of the Governor.

The parade, under the command of Brigadier-General John A. Johnston of the Northeast, will form at 2 p. m. at Marlborough and Hereford streets for the army, and for the navy at Beacon and Hereford streets. It is estimated about 2,000 will be in line from the army and 6,000 from the navy.

The route will be along Commonwealth avenue, from Hereford street to Arlington, to Beacon, to Park, and along Tremont street to Boylston, then to Park square, Columbus avenue as far as Dartmouth street, where the parade will disband.

The roster follows:

Brigadier-General John A. Johnston and staff.

Colonel Morris K. Barrol, in charge of the Coast Artillery, marching as infantry.

The provisional regiment of infantry in the first battalion, made up of one company of the provost guard and one company from the Watertown Arsenal, under command of Major Roy I. Taylor.

Second battalion under command of Major A. R. Shead, the signal corps from the Institute of Technology.

Boston's own, the 104th from Camp Devens, under Colonel Frank Tompkins. There will be a band for every regiment.

Captain Joseph J. O'Hare, assistant chief of staff of the Department of the Northeast, who has charge of the details of the parade, after a conference with the Liberty Loan committee announced today:

"This parade is to be composed only of men who will later see service abroad. It is to be particularly a military parade, emphasizing in its own peculiar way the claims of the Liberty Loan."

LIBERTY LOAN RALLIES TO BE HELD NIGHTLY

The Liberty Bond rallies which started in the Liberty barracks on Boston Common will be continued tonight and each evening this week. Tonight's two programs will be given, one at 7.30 and the other at 9.45 o'clock, each lasting an hour.

All the features of last night will be repeated tonight at the hours named. Men and women are invited to attend whichever rally is more convenient. There is ample opportunity to get bond information or to make purchases before and after each program.

BOND BUYER ACCUSED OF SEDITIOUS REMARKS

Carl M. Gustafson of Sumner street, Lynn accused of seditious remarks, pleaded not guilty today before United States Commissioner Hayes. He was held in $1,000, the case being continued to April 23. Just before his arrest Gustafson bought two Liberty Bonds.

BORAH FIGHTS CZAR POWER OVER PRESS

Senate Amendment Aims at Postmaster-General's Power to Suppress Publications

By International News Service.

Washington, April 9.—A formidable movement to abolish the postmaster-general's power over the press was launched in Congress today.

Senator Borah of Idaho proposed an amendment to the pending sedition bill repealing the sections of the espionage act empowering the postmaster-general to deny the use of the mails to newspapers and magazines. These sections have been in force since last June and have resulted in practical suppression of numerous publications charged with giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

The amendment met with prompt endorsement from Senators and Congressmen who have contended for free speech and press since the outbreak of the war. If adopted it would take the position of guarding the disloyal press out of the hands of the postmaster-general and throw it into the Federal courts to be dealt with under the laws against seditious utterances and publications.

Senator Borah last Spring vigorously fought the sections which he now seeks to repeal as "striking at the fundamental liberties of the people." Senator Borah declared in action that no one man should be vested with arbitrary powers over the press The question, he has contended, is one to be met by legal process under the laws against treason and disloyalty.

While he has been unsparing in his condemnation of pro-German utterances and publications, Borah today declared that the courts alone should have the authority to deal with the question. Newspaper owners and publishers should be subject to punishment by law, not by decree of the Postoffice Department, he held.

Senator Sterling, author of the general purpose of the pending sedition bill as a means of providing authority for the Department of Justice to round up seditionists, if enacted into law, he declared, would furnish ample power to stamp out the disloyal press without the use of the Postoffice Department's club.

DROHAN TO TALK AT COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Lieutenant William F. Drohan of the 101st overseas regiment, who recently returned from France and who expects to go back and go "over the top," will speak at the communion breakfast of Rose Croix Council No. 1331, Knights of Columbus, in St. Joseph's School Hall, Regent and Circuit streets, Roxbury, Sunday morning. The members of the council will receive communion at the 8 o'clock mass.

Samuel A. Youngman has been appointed Farm Manager for Municipal Gardens. He will receive $200 a month. He was assistant manager last year.

The new farm-manager was born and brought up on a farm in Williamsport, Pa. He graduated from the Pennsylvania State Agricultural College.

G. A. R. CHEERS NEW ARMY OF REPUBLIC

Delegates at State Convention Pledge Support of Boys Fighting for Democracy

More than a thousand gray-haired veterans stood at attention, with hands raised in salute, during the opening exercises today of the fifty-second annual encampment of the Department of Massachusetts, G. A. R., in Faneuil Hall. Among those in attendance was Martin L. Schenck of U. S. Chandler Post of Brookline, a veteran of a revolutionary soldier and delegate to the convention that framed the constitution.

After the old soldiers had joined in singing "America," Chaplain Seth W. Bell of Brockton prayed that "the lust at the front in France may succumb to the sword from Prussian oppression and to establishing a world-wide democracy."

Department Commander Daniel E. Hagan of Worcester said in his annual report that "statistics show that the Grand Army that enlisted over fifty years ago to preserve the nation has less than one-fifth of its members living today." Nearly 10 per cent. of the members of the Massachusetts department have died within a year.

The commander called attention to the fact that funds of the G. A. R. have been invested in Liberty Bonds, and said: "The thirtieth day of May ought to be a sacred day, and we shall all, by our protests and by our actions, deplore its use for games and sports."

"We have felt sometimes," he said, "that we were a part of the past and were living in our memories, but in the uprising of the world war we are glad to know that we can have a part—a necessary and valuable one. Though we can not shoulder a gun, we can still serve our country and our country needs us. Comrades of the aged army of the nation, burning patriotism, holding up the flame of the young men."

"Massachusetts feels a special pride that the American Red Cross was founded by a daughter of this state, Miss Clara Barton. Many a comrade has had her care and her nurses for being alive today."

Committees were appointed to convey the greetings of the encampment to gatherings of allied organizations now in session in Boston.

Thousand Women at Annual Session of the Relief Corps

More than 1,000 women, members of the Women's Relief Corps, Department of Massachusetts, were present at the opening session of the 29th annual convention held today at the Shawmut Congregational Church at West Brookline and Tremont streets. Delegates and women present were 889 voting delegates from all sections of Massachusetts.

The meeting was presided over by Department President S. Anna Starkweather of Worcester, who read the annual report. President Starkweather said that during the present convention and will be succeeded by Mrs. Flora Chapin of Worcester, now senior vice-president.

The service rendered by the women of the corps in the past was praised by Rev. Mark Wayne Williams, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Herbert Gurney, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, urged women to still greater sacrifice to win the war.

The color bearers, escorting the national officers to the platform were: Mrs. Harriet Hoit, Miss Edith Bissell, Miss Edna Clark and Miss Ruth Unleyson. Chief Guard Miss Mary McDuffee was in charge of seating the delegates.

The following national officers of the Women's Relief Corps of the United States were present: National President Leal Reynolds of Ohio; National Junior Vice-President Mrs. Elizabeth Savage of Maine; National Secretary Mrs. Ella Rose of Connecticut; Attleboro and National Press Correspondent Miss Mary E. Elliott of Massachusetts.

The convention will continue through today evening and is being held simultaneously with the following conventions of allied organizations of the G. A. R.: The Ladies' Aid Auxiliaries of Veterans, both at Tremont Temple; Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary, Odd Fellows' Hall in the Ford building and the Ladies of the G. A. R. at the American House.

HEARING TOMORROW ON MAYOR'S $3 TAX BILL

Following a call from Mayor Peters today Governor McCall announced that he would give a public hearing tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. on the Mayor's bill for an increase of $3 per 1,000 in the Boston tax limit. The bill is before the Governor for his signature. The hearing will probably be in the council chamber. Two dollars of the extra amount asked by the Mayor is for general municipal purposes and the other dollar for permanent street improvements.

SOCIETY GIRLS TRAIN FOR WAR HOSPITAL WORK

Miss Christiana Councilman, who is to nurse returned wounded soldiers in Boston hospitals.

One of the latest of the Boston society girls to turn to the work of nursing wounded soldiers who may be brought to this city is Miss Christiana D. Councilman of No. 79 Hoy State road.

Miss Councilman, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Councilman, is taking a three months' course of training at one of the New York hospitals to fit her for the work, which she will take up on the wounded begin to arrive in Boston. Taking the course with her are Miss Mary Sheridan and Miss Frances Clark.

'FINANCIER' HELD IN BOSTON AS FUGITIVE

Lewis Hillier Holt, alias William Carter Hill, arrested by the Boston police as a fugitive from justice in Chicago, is declared by Captain Armstrong of the inspectors' department to be a former confidence man.

He is charged with victimizing business men in that section out of about $3,000 through the claim that he represented large financial interests in London. He has been arrested in Boston for a couple of months, but no criminal complaints have been made here.

It is said that Holt advertised to each city which he visited that he represented large financial interests and was prepared to deal heavily in Liberty and Stamp Bonds, and to sell stock to the amount of 45 per cent. in the concern.

Because of the desire of the British authorities to make sure that no spy shall be allowed to carry on operations which might create an atmosphere of doubt regarding financial dealings between the United States and British territory, the British consul general at Boston has called the attention of the local inspectors department to Holt.

John T. Trant, British vice consul at this port, took the matter up with Captain Armstrong and the British vice-consul at Chicago also interested himself in the matter.

Inspectors Sheehan, Flaherty and Finn brought him in and he had a long talk with Captain Armstrong. It was announced later that Holt had expressed a willingness to return to Chicago without extradition papers.

A large mass of material, including agreements drawn with counsel which desired Holt to assist them in financing, many cable blanks, letterheads purporting to be those of prominent financial institutions in London, and other documents were taken with Holt.

FRENCH WOUNDED FUND IS RAISED TO $340,961

Additional contributions bring the American Fund for French Wounded up to $340,961.73, according to an announcement made today by Kidder, Peabody & Company, treasurer of the fund.

CASUALTY LISTS MAY BE GIVEN TO PRESS

By International News Service.

Washington, April 9.—It is said that the casualty list of the American overseas forces will again be published following the return of Secretary of War Baker from France was telegraphed to sources close to the White House.

The return of the secretary is expected shortly and with his arrival from the Presidents, it is said, will personally take the matter up with him.

It was also intimated that with the secretary's return will come a revision of the censorship regulations. The President is known to be anxious to have each man take up work in which he is best fitted. Baker, it is said, will personally confer on Assistant Secretary Crowell, Hastings and Ryan, the three members of the War Council the President views Hoffman as one of the best men in the country for the position. Hoffman is known throughout the town were at half staff.

A simple service, in accordance with the wish of Mr. Brackett, was held at his residence, 9 Beacon street, Brookline, Friday afternoon, Rev. Frederick Hill Speare, minister of the First Parish Church, officiating. The burial was private.

Among those present were Governor McCall, former Governor John L. Bates, Judge James M. Morton, Colonel Charles H. Taylor, Colonel Arthur T. Lyman, Colonel J. Whipple James A. Bailey and William A. Brackett, a brother of the late ex-governor. Colonel Malvin O. Adams and Colonel William H. Dyer, commanders of the Massachusetts regiments in the Civil War, of which Mr. Brackett was governor, and Dr. William E. Huntington, who was surgeon of the regiments in the years of 1861 at Harvard University. The body was taken to Mt. Auburn for its interment.

ACCUSE MAN AND WIFE OF QUESTIONNAIRE FRAUD

Ham H. Hatch and his wife, Florence of Monument square, Charlestown, were taken to Bangor, Me., today to answer to a charge of falsely asserting a claim for exemption. It is alleged that Hatch left his wife some days ago and went away with another woman, who it is claimed signed her name to the questionnaire, claiming that she was Hatch's wife and that she was dependent upon him.

Hatch's real wife in court was found this out and it is alleged that she agreed to claim that it was she who signed the questionnaire. She did this with the understanding that her husband would come back and live with her, it is alleged.

HAS NO ONE YET MISSED A ROPE OF PEARLS?

The mystery surrounding the "queen's necklace," which was found on a Boston street and the owner of which cannot be located, deepened today.

No trace of the owner has been found, although the police of Boston, New York and other cities have made every effort to locate the person who could lose three feet of matched pearls and make no effort to find them.

Mrs. Edith Clapp of No. 661 County street, New Bedford, who found the pearls on New Year's eve, advertised her find extensively for a second month but without avail. Acting for Mrs. Clapp, Samuel Pierce, quartermaster on one of the boats of the New England Navigation Company, notified the police of Boston and New York and filed an affidavit at Boston City Hall as well as copies of the advertisements.

Mr. Pierce, whose home is also in New Bedford, called on Captain Charles Hall, who is in charge of the property room at Boston police headquarters. He showed the necklace and related the story of how he came by it. At the conclusion of the conversation Mr. Pierce took the necklace away with him and is now guarding it for Mrs. Clapp.

Captain Hall said today that he was not familiar with pearls but believed the necklace to be very valuable. It has 133 matched pearls each larger than a pea, terminating fastening with a diamond clasp.

"The case is connecting with police records in every way," said Captain Hall, "and there is no reason for retaining the necklace. It appears to be genuine, and I cannot understand how anyone could lose the pearls and make no attempt to find them. They are of large size, beautifully matched. I understand that even a small genuine pearl is worth $100 and that this string must be worth some thousands."

Last September Mrs. Clapp, who is the wife of James Clapp, a New Bedford boat builder, went up to Boston on an outing to the police. On Newbury street, near the Public Garden, she found the pearls lying on the pavement. It is said that she went to a room to be sure of great value, but never-the-less advertised in Boston papers for several months.

POLICE GIVE IT UP.

At length she turned the string over to Mr. Pierce, asking him to take them to New York and dispose of them if possible. He did so, and while walking up Broadway in New York passage was interrogated by a detective.

After telling his story, he left the pearls with the police headquarters, and a description of them was sent out to all burglar insurance companies in the country. Then it was found that no such necklace was missing, the pearls were returned to Pierce, and he was told to inform the Boston authorities, which he did with the result.

NOTABLES AT FUNERAL OF EX-GOV. BRACKETT

Gov. McCall and his staff, Lieut. Gov. Coolidge and delegations from the Governor's Council and the Massachusetts Bar Association were among the many who attended the funeral today of former Governor John Quincy Adams Brackett, in Trow Parish Congregational Church, Arlington. Flags throughout the town were at half staff.

A simple service, in accordance with the wish of Mr. Brackett, was held at his residence, 9 Beacon street, Brookline, Friday afternoon, Rev. Frederick Hill Speare, minister of the First Parish Church, officiating. The burial was private.

Among those present were Governor McCall, former Governor John L. Bates, Judge James M. Morton, Colonel Charles H. Taylor, Colonel Arthur T. Lyman, Colonel J. Whipple James A. Bailey and William A. Brackett, a brother of the late ex-governor. Colonel Malvin O. Adams and Colonel William H. Dyer, commanders of the Massachusetts regiments in the years of 1861 at Harvard University. The body was taken to Mt. Auburn for its interment.

DEBTS PAID; DISSOLVE SUNDAY COMMITTEE

The last step in winding up the affairs of Mayor Curley's Sunday Evangelistic committee came today when the legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs voted to report a bill authorizing the petition of Allen C. Emery, acting for dissolution. The committee honor even in this city, as debts remaining. The greatest cost was the Tabernacle, $46,116.85. The expenses of the Tabernacle amounted to $15,736.18. The committee expenses was $18,301.41, and the expense of the Sunday party was $11,835.67. The Tabernacle collections totalled $31,-459.15.

DREWS AMUSE IN DOMESTIC COMEDY

By FRED J. McISAAC.

My gracious! What large, strong hands those movie fans have got.

When Mr. Sidney Drew set foot on the stage at the Wilbur last night you would have thought it was the Germans bombarding Albert, and when Mrs. Sidney Drew thrust her rosy countenance before the footlights it was like the Allies bombarding them back again.

Judging by the reception the Drews were handed last evening, "Keep Her Smiling" is likely to be one of the season's successes. It was written by John Hunter Booth, who dramatized "The Masquerader." He built his play upon several stories about Trimble, the bookkeeper with the extravagant wife, which appeared a year or two ago in the Saturday Evening Post.

It was Richard Watson Tully who lured the Drews back to the footlights from their lucrative occupation of manufacturing short comedies out of domestic occurrences such as repairing the plumbing and giving the baby a bath.

"Keep Her Smiling" is in line with the work they have been doing in the movies, a domestic comedy based upon the family budget.

The philosophy of this little comedy is pure sophistry, the idea being that if you let your wife go ahead and blow in your whole salary and three or four times as much again, people will get the idea you are a remarkable person and will pin medals and large lucrative positions on you. In real life they would put you in jail.

Aside from the fact that it is preposterous, "Keep Her Smiling," is an entertaining little thing. The last act is by far the best. A reception at which artists whose fees amount to $6,000, are singing to an aristocratic assemblage, while the host, who will presently be expected to pay them, is wandering around on the outskirts with five dollars in his pocket.

Sidney Drew was never considered one of America's great actors when he eloped to the movies, but he has come back as one of the most intelligent and best equipped farceurs that I have ever seen. Drew can convey a world of meaning by wagging one eyebrow, or wrinkling his nose. He is a pantomimist of parts. His screen experience enables him to express himself without the aid of words. In the early scenes as an office drudge, and as a fond and fatuous husband, he has equally amusing, and in his vinous hysterosis he was highly diverting.

Mrs. Drew, a newcomer to the spoken stage, appears even more attractive than she does on the screen. Her voice is light, but agreeable, and she has undoubted talent for light comedy. Dewitt Jennings, remembered as the Customs Inspector in "Under Cover," gets a lot of fun out of the part of a brusque and stingy employer who browbeats our hero in the early scenes and fawns on him at the end.

Mr. Tully has supplied an excellent cast and charming settings.

GLOBE THEATRE—"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," at the Globe Theatre, began another week yesterday, prolonging the time originally allotted to it, and enjoying renewed popularity through its insistent appeal.

BENNETT PLAY HIT AT THE COPLEY

Arnold Bennett's own dramatization of his brilliant novel, "Buried Alive," is being given at the Copley Theatre this week, under the title "The Great Adventure." The audience at the opening night performance was enthusiastic in acclaiming it one of the most diverting and successful comedies yet produced by the Jewett Players.

The story is that of an artist who, wearied of fame, longs for the quiet back-waters of the days before he won success. His opportunity comes when a physician mistakes him for his valet; the servant dies and the physician has him buried under the name of the artist. The painter buries himself alive by assuming the life and habits of the valet, and thus begins his "great adventure," which terminates in a love romance.

The amusing predicaments into which the artist falls in his masquerade serve to whet the curiosity of the audience, and both interest and hilarity are sustained as the comedy develops. There is sufficient sentiment to leaven the play and maintain the heart interest. The situations are unique, the lines are amusing, and the Jewett Players render them with their accustomed delightful clarity.

Signal honors fell to Beatrice Miller, who made a particular hit in the part of the pert and practical widow. The ecclesiastical twins, enacted by Leon Gordon and Murray Stephen, were tremendously funny. Frederick Annerley as Father Loos gave a convincing impersonation.

Mr. Wingfield enacts the difficult dual role of the artist who becomes valet, with that fidelity to artistry that marks all his characterizations. Mr. Jewett has personally assigned the players so that each has opportunity for demonstrating personal qualifications in the many amusing roles. The cast is admirably placed, and a finished performance is the happy result.

WALDRON'S CASINO—The name of Sam Sidman has always stood for the best in the producing line. Costumes, scenery and equipment in a Sidman show are always attractive, and when "Circus in Town" was launched this season that they were appreciated by the theatre-going public was evidenced in the fact that the attraction had been received wherever it has played with the stamp of approval by large audiences. "Circus in Town" has a chorus of twenty girls, chosen for their charm of face and figure and ability to sing and dance. In addition the show carries a male quartet that strengthens the singing in the show to an amazing degree. Mr. Sidman needs no introduction to local theatregoers; for years his work has been of the highest order, and in "Circus in Town" he is at his best. He is seen in the eccentric character he has made famous in burlesque. The other principals are John Quigg, John Irwin, Jack Howard, Frankie Nible, Elmer Brown, Gene Carlson, George Thurston, Addie Carlson and Albert Frank, not forgetting a chorus of feminine beauty rarely seen on a burlesque stage.

PARK THEATRE—The bill this week at the Park Theatre is of exceptional quality, a combination of two of the greatest features ever produced upon a screen. Heading the program is Montague Love as Cardinal Mercier in "The Cross Bearer," a World Film production in eight acts, that eclipses anything that company has ever before put before the public.

Montague Love is especially well adapted to take the part as the beloved Apostle of Belgium, and his kind attitude toward the helpless people, surrounded as they were with desolation, excites the interest of every spectator and holds it tensely until the close of the picture.

Manager Thomas D. Soriero used great care in selecting a picture to go on the same bill with "The Cross Bearer," and after much consideration showed excellent judgment in giving the patrons May Allison in her first production after her return to Metro, "Social Hypocrites," in six acts, a comedy that everyone will enjoy, as the many thousands have for the past two days.

GAYETY THEATRE—There is much of beauty for the eyes in the "Spiegel Revue" at the Gayety Theatre this week. The show is supplied with a scenic setting that is far ahead of the others, and the chorus is quite the most appealing seen in the Gayety Theatre for a long time.

Featured in the melange of music and specialties is Midgie Miller, a saucy little soubrette, whose size is quite out of proportion to her abilities as an entertainer. Mae Clinton and Emma Cook also appear as leaders of musical numbers. The comedy of the Revue, though not all new, is put over with a punch by Harry Shepnell and Johnnie Walker, the comedians of the show.

Specialties that win are those by Midgie Miller and the Callahan brothers, who do clever eccentric dances, and the harmonious singing of the California Trio. The show is set in two acts and ten scenes, each of which is far from the ordinary.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The leading act on the vaudeville bill at Loew's St. James Theatre yesterday was the musical production described as "a musical panorama in seven scenes," played by Jimmie Gildea and a company of ten people. It is a bright and tuneful offering moving swiftly in action and with plenty of catchy songs and taking dances. The surrounding bill included Parsons & Irwin in a very clever conception in singing acts, there being quite a surprise in the manner in which they introduce themselves; Rose Berry, a dainty singer of songs that have a humorous touch; Clinton & Rooney in their singing and dancing skit, "What Everybody Likes"; and McConnell & Austin in an exhibition of skill on wheels. On the screen there were shown the latest News Pictorial, a comedy, and the photoplay, "The Guilty Man."

WILSON SEES GERARD FILM

An event unique in the political history of these United States occurred at Washington yesterday when President Wilson, his cabinet, members of the diplomatic corps, army and navy men and others in official life, viewed a motion picture made from material furnished by an ex-ambassador to a foreign power.

The possibilities of "My Four years in Germany" for a screen play could not long be overlooked, nor were they, and the motion picture seen by the President and his party was the result of that observation.

What the President and United States officials saw may be seen by all who wish in Boston on Monday next.

It was a perfect reproduction of scenes of great import that were staged in Berlin and in the war zone after—and even before the Germans had declared war by Ambassador Gerard and which have been described by him in his famous book: "My Four Years in Germany."

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Hoey & Lee, the popular Hebrew comedians, led the bill at Loew's Orpheum Theatre yesterday in their latest skit, "The Nominee," with which they pleased the audience immensely. The surrounding bill included Bobby Carroll & Company in the one-act comedy, "The Merchant Prince," a cleverly conceived comedy offering; Lane & Harper in the comedietta, "The Man and the Manicure"; Les Aristocrats, a group of clever dancers in classic and whirlwind exhibitions that won instant favor; Binns & Bert in acrobatic comicalities. On the screen there were shown the News Pictorial, the latest Mack Sennett comedy and the photoplay, "The Tiger Man," picturing William S. Hart as a desperado of the gold seeking days on the Western plains who in a raid encounters a good woman. The entire bill changes Thursday when the leading act will be the musical comedy, "The New Producer," presented by a company of twelve people.

FENWAY THEATRE—"Wild Youth," an adaptation of Gilbert Parker's most popular novel, is featured at the Fenway on the first three days. The production boasts of a remarkable cast in Louise Huff, Theodore Roberts, Jack Mulhall, James Cruse and Adele Farrington. Douglas Fairbanks will be featured on the same program in "Flirting With Fate." On the last three days of the week Antonio Moreno appears in a remarkable photodrama adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's story, "Nahlahka." Billie Burke will be the feature of the Sunday evening program, the vehicle being "The Land of Promise." The Fenway Symphony Orchestra will furnish the musical program.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The name of Mary Pickford need merely be mentioned to show the popularity of the Castle Square program this week. She appeared there on the screen yesterday in "Amarilly of Clothesline Alley," and she was the same winsome Mary Pickford who has won the affections of millions of movie lovers throughout the country. She and her photoplay were only a part of a widely diversified bill. Shorty Hamilton arousing no little laughter in "Denny from Ireland," while a Lloyd comedy and the Hearst-Pathe News attracted scarcely less attention.

LIBERTY LOAN WEEK AT KEITH'S

This is Liberty Loan week at Keith's Theatre. By special arrangement with the Navy Department and the Liberty Loan committee the famous navy jazz band, the largest of its kind in the world, is appearing at each performance. The band includes twenty-five enlisted men, who play patriotic, classical or popular music with pleasing skill.

The band is under the direction of Chief Yeoman Al Moore, who resigned as representative from the West Roxbury district to join the service. Decker Thornton of South Boston, an ex-South Boston high school athlete, who is attached to the navy yard, helps the patriotic program by singing "Let's All Buy a Liberty Bond."

There are plenty of attractions on this week's bill to make you forget the war if you wish. James Thornton, long one of vaudeville's cleverest monologuists, is back with Bonnie Thornton in an act they call "Memories of Sweet Sixteen." It has plenty of fun.

Mme. Doree's Celebrities make an excellent musical contribution to the program, the singers giving impressions of Caruso, Destinn, Farrar and other grand opera stars.

The Courtney sisters have a musical skit in which they feature negro melodies. John McGowan, assisted by two girls, offer an entertaining musical comedy fantasy entitled "Some Bride," which has bright music and lines. Bradley and Ardine, singers and dancers; William Ebbs and the Wheeler trio, acrobats, complete an excellent bill. The Hearst-Pathe pictures are of their usual excellence.

BOSTON THEATRE—Taylor Holmes, in "Ruggles of Red Gap," has added another success to his already overcrowded list, as was evidenced by the keen appreciation of all who saw the film attraction at the Boston Theatre yesterday. Heading the vaudeville list are Swor and Avey, two blackface entertainers of "big time" calibre. "Ruggles of Red Gap" is a bubbling, scintillating, romantic picture showing the adventures of a guileless English valet cast adrift in the crudest part of the United States.

ANNOUNCEMENT

OUR Government has requested that we put at the disposal of the War Department our entire output of the "makings"—"BULL" DURHAM tobacco.

And we have complied—fully, gladly. For whatever the Government wants, whatever it needs, it must have from us and from you fully and with a generous heart.

We have been sending immense quantities of "Bull" to our men at the front, and at the same time trying to supply consumers at home. But now we are asked to give all our output:—36,000,000 sacks, 2,000,000 lbs., 100 carloads of "BULL" DURHAM every month.

This call means more than just huge figures to me and I know it will mean more than figures to the hundreds of thousands of men everywhere in the country who "roll their own" and who look upon that little muslin sack of good old "Bull" as a personal, everyday necessity.

It means that the Government has found that our fighting men need the "makings".

But, if "Bull" is a necessity to you, here, in the peaceful pursuit of your daily life, how much greater its necessity to those splendid Americans who have gone to fight for you—to win this war for you.

I know that you will think of them as I do—only of them. I know there will not be a single complaint. I know that you will give up your share of "Bull", however long you have enjoyed it, however close it is to you, as you will give up anything you have if it is made clear to you that our forces over there need it.

That the Government has requested the whole output of "Bull", the night and day output of all of our factories, must make this absolute need clear to you.

And I know that you will not forget the little muslin sack—gone for the present on its mission of hope and inspiration to our boys in the trenches.

"Bull" will come back, with ribbons of honor. Have no fear.

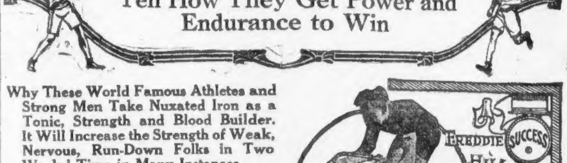
Athletes Say Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders



Tell How They Get Power and Endurance to Win

Why These World Famous Athletes and Strong Men Take Nuxated Iron as a Tonic, Strength and Blood Builder. It Will Increase the Strength of Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

WHEN interviewed on the baseball field, Harry Hooper, famous star of the Boston "Red Sox," said: "In the World's Series Games every player is put on his mettle. He must be able to play equally well in the ninth and first innings, for no score is closed while a single batter has an unpitched ball ahead of him. Since I have made Nuxated Iron a part of my regular training, I have found myself possessed of strength, power and stamina to meet the most severe strains."

Joe Jackson, star batter of the Chicago "White Sox," Winners of the last World's Championship Baseball Series, said: "Nuxated Iron certainly makes a man a live wire and gives him the 'never-say-die' strength and endurance. When I see in the papers 'Jackson's batting was responsible for the Chicago victory,' I feel like adding to it—'Nuxated Iron puts the power behind the bat and gives the needed punch to every play.'" In the office of his manager on Broadway, Freddie Hill when champion endurance racer of the world, said: "In no test of endurance and stamina do men need such tremendous reserve strength and power as in a six-day bicycle race. Doctors have always told me, and I believe I have proven it in my own case, that the blood must be filled with iron to stand the terrific strain on mind and body. People marvel at my great strength and endurance and wonder how I 'Came back' so quickly after having had such a disastrous fall, inflicting concussion of the brain. The secret is Nuxated Iron. It has put the old-time 'pep' and vim in my blood, and actually made me a stronger and better man than I was at any previous time in my whole career." Commenting upon the remarkable results which Nuxated Iron has produced for these and other athletes in so many branches of sport, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dep't), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "There are thousands of men and women who need a strength and blood builder, but do not know what to take. In my own opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for enriching the blood and helping to increase the strength and endurance of men and women who burn up too rapidly their nervous energy in the strenuous strain of the great business competition of the day. Nuxated Iron helps give a man the power to put forth the extra effort necessary to win, whether it be in athletics or commercial life.

"But you can't make strong, vigorous, successful, sturdy iron men by feeding them metallic iron, any more than you can build up strength and health by feeding a man on hay. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a semi-digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before they are so ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. But in face of all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist in dosing themselves with metallic iron simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers, in all cases, to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (NUXATED IRON) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar Iron products and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron."

Dr. A. J. Newman, formerly House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, in commenting on the value of Nuxated Iron, said: "This remedy has proven through my own tests of it to excel any preparation I have ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders. The manufacturers are to be congratulated in having given to the public a long-felt want, a true tonic supplying iron in an easily digested and assimilated form. A true health builder in every sense of the word." If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron, three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance, which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE.—Nuxated Iron which has been so successfully used by some of the World's Greatest Athletes, and which is prescribed and recommended by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

ARREST CHICAGO LEADER OF I. W. W. IN BROOKLYN

New York, April 9.—Philip Kurinsky, one of the I. W. W. organizers indicted in Chicago last Summer, who escaped the police dragnet, was arrested at his home in Brooklyn today. He denied any connection with the I. W. W., but search revealed a charter to organize a branch of the order in Brooklyn. He will be arraigned today and returned to Chicago.

ALIEN SURPLUS PROFITS MUST BE USED FOR BONDS

Washington, April 9.—All surplus funds of enemy-owned corporations will be invested in Liberty Bonds or out of such funds directors must declare a dividend for the purpose of investing in such bonds. Instructions to this effect today were sent to all directors on the boards of enemy-owned corporations by A. Mitchell Palmer, the alien property custodian.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments

"Danderine" makes your hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and lifeproducing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment be certain to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

SAYS CONFLICT CENTRES ON INDUSTRY

Roger W. Babson Explains Why He Is Working With the Department of Labor

The great struggle for democracy in which America is engaged is a war of factories rather than of fighters, and in the last analysis a conflict of industrial interests rather than of military interests, according to Roger W. Babson, the financial expert. Mr. Babson gave this as his view when asked how he happened to be giving his services to the Department of Labor.

"How is it that you are working for the Department of Labor? Why not with the Treasury Department, the Navy Department or the Shipping Board where the other economists are?" Mr. Babson was asked by an AMERICAN reporter.

"Perhaps I should have accepted an offer from one of these more 'popular departments,'" Mr. Babson replied "but I did not do this, believing that the Department of Labor offers the greatest opportunity for service. The eyes of the world are fixed on the army, the navy and the Shipping Board.

"But in the last analysis, this is a war of factories rather than of fighters, a conflict of industrial interests rather than of military interests."

YOUNGEST OF DEPARTMENTS.

Mr. Babson's declaration that the Department of Labor is the most important department in Washington for the successful waging of the war recalls the oft-repeated proverb of "the children saving the parents." Because the Department of Labor is the youngest of the great executive departments, having been founded by W. B. Wilson only five years ago.

Mr. Babson in his work for this department is devoting his special attention to helping the employers of the country to get the right attitude toward and proper service from the Department of Labor. He is a point of contact between the employer and this department. The relation between the department and the wage earner is handled by Secretary Wilson himself, assisted by Mr. Kirwin.

"Then your work is to sell the Department of Labor to the employer and to sell the employer to the Department of Labor?" Mr. Babson was asked.

EMPLOYER HANGS BACK.

"Yes," he replied, "perhaps that is a gat way of putting it, but I don't have much trouble in getting the Department of Labor to serve the employer. I am convinced that the department is very anxious to do this thoroughly and most impartially. My difficulty is getting the employer to come to the Department of Labor and profit by its bureaus and services."

While Mr. Babson's friends are stampeding one another to get into the older and more popular departments at Washington, the well-known financier is taking his own advice to investors in giving his services to the Department of Labor, that the time to get a commodity is before it is in demand and the time to sell it is when it is immensely popular.

His was first connected with the Committee on Public Information. His work with the Department of Labor is similar to the service department of a large manufacturing corporation.

SALEM'S OLDEST WOMAN RESIDENT DEAD AT 103

Mrs. Auralie Marchand Lavoie, the oldest woman resident of Salem, died today, aged 103, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Brunean Deschanes, No. 13 Arthur street, Salem.

Mrs. Lavoie was in good health up to a few days ago. She was born in Canada, coming to this country twenty-nine years ago. She leaves three sons, three daughters and 121 children of the second, third and fourth generations.

Sodality to Give Whist

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter and Paul Church, South Boston, will give a whist party in the municipal building Thursday evening. Miss Agnes Loughlin is chairman of the committee.

American Castor Oil Now Demanded by Fliers in War

New York, April 9.—The flying machines above the battlefields in Europe are making a new call upon the farmers and manufacturers of the United States. Not content with the large quantities of gasolene which they are drawing from this, the greatest gasolene producing country in world, they are now demanding castor oil.

Under the rapid changes in temperature and air pressure which these machines must encounter in constant transition from low to high elevations, they must have a lubricant which will flow under all conditions of temperature and atmospheric pressure, forming a thin film over every bearing, and which will not carbonize. Castor oil has been found the most satisfactory lubricant under the circumstances, and as a consequence hurry calls have come to the United States, which is a limited producer of castor oil, for such supplies as may now be available and for a great increase in production as soon as this can be accomplished.

Taft to Speak in Lowell.

Lowell, April 9.—Ex-President William H. Taft will lecture in this city Wednesday evening. His subject will be "The Great War." He will speak in the First Universalist Church.

COMING EVENTS

MAJESTIC THEATRE—"Hearts of the World," the new D. W. Griffith production, will not open at the Majestic Theatre until Tuesday evening, April 16, owing to the elaborate settings, the paraphernalia and the symphony orchestra preparations. An orchestra of thirty musicians will be one of the features during the showing of this latest Griffith masterpiece in Boston. Already the general mechanical staff engaged by William Gilbert, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest has arrived here, and the special stage construction work and the erecting of the giant booth to be used for the projection machines is in progress. "Hearts of the World" is announced by Mr. Griffith, who spent eighteen months in taking the scenes as "a love story of the war."

SHUBERT THEATRE—The attraction at the Shubert Theatre, beginning next Monday evening, seats for which are now on sale at the box office, will be the return engagement of Oliver Morosco's musical success "So Long Letty," which returns with practically the same cast as when it was in the play over a year ago, having at its head Charlotte Greenwood, Walter Catlett, Sydney Grant and May Boley, who form the two families of beach apartment occupying neighboring cars in the Street Car Colony on San Francisco Bay.

OPERA SALE—Seats for single performances of the eight bills of opera to be given by the Metropolitan Opera Company during the week of April 22 are on sale at the Opera House box office beginning today.

The management advises that personal application is the more desirable, but if mail orders are sent, checks should be made payable to the Metropolitan Opera Company for the amount of the tickets ordered and 10 per cent. for tax.

The order of the performances is: Monday, "La Boheme," in French; Wednesday, Musin Caruso, Mardones; Thursday, "Tosca," in Italian, Farrar, Scotti, Amato, Martinelli, Rimini, Mardones; Friday, "Aida," in Italian, Muzio, Martinelli, Amato, Mardones; Saturday afternoon, Rimini; Wednesday evening, "Rigoletto," in Italian, Barrientos, Lazaro, Howard, De Luca, Rothier; Thursday, double bill, "La Oracolo" and "Pagliacci," in Italian, Easton, Howard, Althouse, Scotti, Didur; Friday afternoon, Arnoldson, Lazaro, Friday, "Madama Butterfly," in Italian, Farrar, Fornia, Carpi, Scotti, Bada; Saturday afternoon, Barrientos in "Dalila," in French, Claessens, Caruso, Chalmers, Rothier; Saturday evening, Puritani, in Italian, Barrientos, Perini, Lazaro, De Luca, Mardones, Rossi.

CARNIVAL AT THE PARK

Nightly—Through the kindness of Nelson & Company and A. H. Woodward—"Beatrice Fairfax," the motion picture next Monday evening April 15, will be given as a benefit carnival to James Kerr and John Cleary, the box office staff of the Park.

Pythian Sisters Celebrate

The annual celebration of St. Omar Temple, No. 35, Pythian Sisters, of Roxbury, will be held tonight in the Elks' Hall, Cambridgeport. Mrs. Lottie B. Hewlitt is chairman.

Condensed Criticisms

BY THE DRAMATIC EDITOR.

Alexandra Carlisle in "The Country Cousin," at the Hollis by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson. One of those plays which makes you feel good all over.

"Getting Together," at the Majestic, a big thrilling melodrama with a whole of a French scene, sponsored by the Bates Hobson Binns Festival Knights and other well known people are in it.

Colonial Theatre, "The Cohan Revue of 1918," a clever lodge police based on the Cohan and Harris musical show. Nora Bayes heads the big cast.

Park Square Theatre, "Stealing Clothes," the new comedy by one of crooks and detectives by Max Marcin, is running a second week.

Tremont Theatre, "The King," at the Tremont, is now in a style French comedy which affords him wonderful opportunities.

"The Man Who Came Back" appropriately runs out the remainder of the season at the Plymouth with a style of drama befitting such a title. Nora Bayes heads the big cast.

LANCASTER THEATRE—The bill of the Lancaster Theatre yesterday contained the William Fox production, "The Devil's Wheel," featuring Gladys Brockwell as the daughter who has been educated in a convent and upon the graduation of her education she is placed in good surroundings. She goes with a man who persuades her to go to a public dance hall, and there the taint in her blood shows itself. Hayakawa, pictured in the leading role. It is a story of the pursuit of revenge, wrought in the Oriental manner, and is to a tale thrilling and intensely gripping.

McADOO STOPS ABUSE IN RAILROAD SUITS

Washington, April 9.—Court actions against railways under Federal control must be brought in the county or district in which the plaintiff resides or in which the cause of the action arises, Railways Director McAdoo made the ruling today in the form of a general order, almost in its entirety out of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision, now before the Supreme Court, in the Lawrence making a specialty of rail-

GRANDSTAND FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

the front line have been able to see anything at all.

This fund will construct a large grandstand where the men with their friends can see the games and which will have dressing rooms, shower baths and all the other equipment that goes with an up-to-date baseball park.

GENEROUS RESPONSE.

From the tossing of the ball into the field in the contest to put the fund across, the response has been generous, but more and still more money will be needed. The Boston AMERICAN is receiving by every mail letters congratulating the paper on starting the movement and contributions are coming in in a most satisfactory manner.

The AMERICAN is perfectly willing to receive contributions to the fund but it is better to send money direct to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming at Camp Devens, treasurer of the fund. The lieutenant is official custodian of the fund and was appointed by Major-General Harry P. Hodges, in command at Camp Devens, who is an enthusiastic supporter of the movement.

Not to be outdone by the Commercial Athletic Club, whose members took up a large collection at a recent boxing exhibition, the Douglas A. A. at a little bout at Lincoln Hall, Second street, Chelsea, passed the hat in the interest of the baseball fund and a collection amounting to $60.75 was secured in a very few minutes. This will be sent to Lieutenant Deming at Camp Devens for official tabulation.

While no one has been mean enough to take advantage of this fund to use it for any unworthy purpose collections of this nature are sometimes made the prey of dishonest persons. The attention of the public is therefore called to the rule that no one other than Lieutenant Deming or the Boston AMERICAN is authorized to collect money for this fund. Contributions should be sent to either.

Relatives Urged to Aid Soldiers at Camp Devens

Every person who has a relative at Camp Devens, and there are many thousands of them, is urged to make a contribution to the Boston AMERICAN Camp Devens Baseball Fund which will provide a baseball and athletic field at cantonment.

Send checks, money orders or other contributions to Lieutenant Robert C. Deming, Camp Devens, Ayer, who is treasurer of the fund.

Medford:

I can conceive of nothing more Devens, both mentally and physically, than to give them good, clean, wholesome out-of-door exercise. Not only will the boys in camp appreciate the generous efforts of the Boston AMERICAN in forwarding this plan, but the thousands of people throughout the country, who are keenly interested in the welfare of the soldiers, will be equally appreciative.

CHARLES W. ELDRIDGE, Mayor of Somerville:

I warmly congratulate the Boston AMERICAN on its Camp Devens Fund. It is a splendid idea. I am always in favor of helping the boys in any way and this is an excellent opportunity.

FORMER MAYOR EBEN J. WILLIAMS, of Waltham:

The idea is an admirable one. By all means let's give the boys an opportunity to enjoy wholesome American sports. Waltham-ites can be expected to do their bit.

Devens First Team to Play Putnams April 19 for Benefit of Camp Fund

Fitchburg, April 9.—For the benefit of the Camp Devens baseball fund, the Putnam Machine Company will play the Devens first team at the old trotting park in this city, April 19. The game will be the big attraction in the city on the holiday and it is being widely advertised. Putnams have a fast aggregation to tackle the soldiers.

The game was arranged a few weeks ago but was cancelled by camp officials. It was scheduled again however after the Boston AMERICAN Baseball Fund was started. Inasmuch as all the proceeds will be turned over to the athletic director at the camp a big crowd is expected.

RAILROADS MAY WRITE THEIR OWN FIRE INSURANCE

Washington, April 9.—Railways under federal control soon may provide their own fire insurance. This was foreshadowed today when Director McAdoo issued a general order directing carriers not to negotiate for fire insurance for a longer period than heretofore has been customary, or in any event for more than a year, without special authority from him. Fire insurance premiums paid by the railways today total millions.

CONGRESSMAN POWERS TO QUIT PUBLIC LIFE

Louisville, Ky., April 9.—Congressman Caleb Powers, who was the central figure in the famous William Goebel case, announced today his retirement from public life, due to illness. Powers was accused of complicity in the assassination of Goebel, Democratic contestant for governor of Kentucky in 1900, and spent eight years in jail. He was once under sentence of death, but was pardoned by Governor Willson.

COST OF LIVING HAS DOUBLED IN 17 YEARS

Food Alone Now Equals Cost of Entire Household in 1900, Says U. S. Board

By International News Service.

Washington, April 9.—The average American family spends as much today for food alone as it did in 1900 to maintain the entire household.

The cost of living has doubled since the beginning of the century, according to a report issued today by the bureau of labor statistics. The average cost of household maintenance in 1900 was $762. During 1917 the cost of the same commodities was $1,401. Food alone in 1917 cost only $52 less than all items combined in 1900, when $327 represented the expenditure for food in the average working man's family. By 1911 it had swelled to $476, and in 1917 increased to $716.

The landlord's toll has gone up 59 per cent., and clothing has doubled, rising from $108 to $210. Fuel and lighting have increased from $48 to $82. The largest advance in these items occurred between 1914 and 1917. The 1917 figures, the report says, are already incorrect because of the continuous advances.

The minimum standard of comfort today, the bureau shows, requires a wage approximately of $1,500 a year. The average of twenty-four American cities is that the minimum amount necessary for a reasonable standard of health and comfort is $1,650, of which $660 is spent for food. Investigation made by the department of health in New York city fixed the figures for that city at $1,682.

In compiling the figures the bureau omits the cost of such things as amusements, charity, books, insurance, taxes and expenses incident to sickness.

How to Make a Real Wrinkle Remover

In these days of cleverly advertised "beautifiers" and "rejuvenators" it is hard for a woman to believe she can make a simple home remedy for the removal of wrinkles which will do her much more good than the average made preparation. There's nothing in the world so effective for erasing or preventing wrinkles, age marks, sagginess of cheeks and chin as a simple and harmless solution made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. These ingredients of course can be had at any drug store. Use the mixture daily for a while as a refreshing wash lotion. The quick and satisfactory results will surprise you. Even the first application produces very marked improvement. The wrinkles are less in evidence and the face has a firm, "solid," comfortable feeling. Soon you will look considerably less than your age.—Advertisement.

ROYAL ROOTERS TO BE GUESTS OF FRAZEE

The Royal Rooters, Boston's justly renowned fan family, are to be President Frazee's guests at the opening championship game at Fenway Park next Monday. John Killeen and the other boomers had planned chaperoning a party of the elite to the battle between the Red Sox and Athletics. Frazee heard about it and sent a general invitation to the Royal Rooters to be on hand as his guests. The Royal Rooters have been assigned Section J of the grandstand. They will attend with their band and give good old "Tessie" her first outing of the year. Members of the Royal Rooters can secure tickets by seeing Mr. Killeen at the Continental Hotel between 8 and 9 o'clock any evening this week.

CHARGE PRO-GERMAN MOVE AMONG NEGROES

New York, April 9.—Max Fruedenheim was arrested here by a Department of Justice agent, charged with disseminating German propaganda among negroes. He was sent to the Newark, N. J., jail. Charles F. De Woody, head of the federal investigating agents here, was informed by a negress that the man was telling colored people they would choose their own rulers when Germany had won the war.

A LETTER FROM THE DOMINICAN SISTERS

Give Grateful Praise to Father John's Medicine

Say They "Find It Most Useful for Colds and a Wonderful Strength Builder"

"We have used Father John's Medicine for colds and coughs and we are certainly willing to advertise its value. The Medicine is most useful for colds, restoring lost strength; in a word a wonderful strength builder. Gratefully (Signed) Dominican Sisters, Oakland Ave., Detroit, Michigan.

This letter, recently received from the monastery of the Blessed Sacrament in Detroit is another evidence of the value of Father John's Medicine for colds and body building.

Father John's Medicine is in use and recommended by various institutions, homes and hospitals throughout the country. Its value has been proved by more than sixty years of success. It is a doctor's prescription and is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form. Because of the fact that it is safe for children as well as older people, Father John's Medicine is used in thousands of homes by careful mothers who have found from experience that it keeps the children well, relieves colds and coughs promptly and builds new strength.

CITY'S BEACHES FACE SCARCITY OF LIFESAVERS

With the approach of the opening of the bathing season, complaints are being received because of what is declared to be a serious shortage of lifeguards and helpers at the city beaches.

These beaches consist of L street, Dewey Beach, North End Park, Mercantile Beach, Dorchester; Terrace Beach, Freeport street, and Wood Island.

It is declared that under present conditions, one man only is placed in a lifeboat, and to him falls the whole duty of preventing any drowning accidents.

As a rule, this man takes his lifeboat a considerable distance off the beach in order that he may overlook the whole of his territory. In case of a bather going down near the shore, the lifeguard would be forced to tear in to the rescue. At the same time a swimmer some distance away might be stricken with cramps, and, lacking assistance, go to the bottom.

Those in a position to know say it is essential that there should be two men in each boat, with an extra man patrolling the beach. Under this plan a helper would pull the lifeboat, leaving the guard free to spring overboard as soon as the drowning person was reached.

$2,000 Suit Over Auto Crash

Freedman & Kargir of Boston have been sued for $2,000 by the Independent Auto Transit Co. of Lowell, claim being that one of its machines was damaged when one of the defendants' cars collided with it.

MEN TEACHERS SHARE VICTORY WITH WOMEN

By MARIE DUNBAR.

The Massachusetts Senate made 2,300 Boston school teachers happy when it passed a bill to increase their pay.

If you had worked for something for a year spent hours at meetings and conferences, and worked in dead earnest to benefit 2,300 school teachers, wouldn't you feel a bubble over with smiles at victory? Wouldn't you have a bubble into a fine state of radiance?

Well, that is just the way Miss Bigelow felt. It was a victory for her, but for her 2,300 colleagues. The underpaid school teachers of Boston are coming into their own.

It means that the harassing life of these 2,300 educators will be made a little brighter and it means that Boston—always foremost in progressive movements—will really be giving her teachers reasonable pay.

CUTS OUT THE SKIMPING.

"It's a great victory," smiled Miss Bigelow in her enthusiastic way. "The high cost of living and the general advance in all lines of goods and foodstuffs made hundreds of Boston school teachers to lead other than a skimpy existence.

"Although the Boston schools are the limit of the women grade teachers is $1,116, and the limit in the high schools the highest salary is $1,764 for the women instructors. In the West the salaries run from $2,000 to $2,500 for the women."

In speaking of the bill, Miss Bigelow pointed out that its history dates back to March, 1917, when twenty-seven school departments asked the School Committee for an increase in salary.

The School Committee recognized the justice of all these claims," said Miss Bigelow, "and at once set about to make a tentative schedule."

Miss Bigelow explained that conferences and meetings followed this action of the school committee, in an effort to secure more than a mere living for the teachers of Boston.

WORK OF JUDGE SULLIVAN.

"Judge Michael H. Sullivan, chairman, was delegated to draft a reasonable bill to meet the situation," said Miss Bigelow. "Mr. Sullivan drafted the bill and it was filed properly January, 1918. After a hearing between the legislative committee on education and a committee from the school teachers, the bill went to a conference between Judge Sullivan and Mayor Peters.

"The Mayor, after investigating the schedule and bill, sent it to the Finance Commission. The Finance Committee investigated and reported that the claim of the school teachers was a just one. The bill as passed is the original bill of Judge Sullivan, with the addition of the amendment which calls for the signature of the Mayor and the Finance Commission. The City Council has already gone on record as heartily in favor of the bill."

And the women school teachers of Boston—2,300 in majority—have shared their new laurels with the school-masters of Boston.

MEN BENEFIT, TOO.

"There is nothing whatever in the rumor that the women school teachers were contemplating considering the amendment to the bill which would call for a limit on the teachers' salaries," said Miss Bigelow. "This would have allowed increases for only those receiving $1,800 or less. This would cut off a large number of men teachers from the raise.

"The women were fighting for the entire bill, increases for the men as well as the women. They were victorious, and the men are likewise so."

Miss Jean Sullivan, president of the Elementary Club; Miss Nellie Hayden, Miss Bigelow and eight other teachers of Boston sat in the gallery and heard the Senate pass the bill. "When they walked back to their various school buildings to take the good news to their co-workers.

CLASS DAY PLANS AT HARVARD CHANGED

Harvard's celebration of class day will be confined to Tuesday, June 18, at Soldiers' Field instead, which is usually held on class day, the following day, and on the following night. The entire schedule has been appreciably changed, class day parts being given in the forenoon instead of the afternoon, the reception in the Stadium in the afternoon and the dance and supper on the Union at night.

STRIKING OPERATOR TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Portland, Me., April 9.—Gustav Bottenski, one of the mill operatives out on strike in Sanford, committed suicide by slashing his throat from ear to ear with a razor. He had just returned from a month's vacation when the men voted to go out on strike. He leaves a widow and children.

HARVARD'S UNDERGRADS START OUT WITH $450

Harvard's subscription for the Liberty loan as the result of the first day's canvass is $450. Princeton's total for the same day has been $1,250. In both instances only undergraduate contributions have been counted.

PORTLAND'S FIRST BOND, $1,000, GOES TO VETERAN

Portland, Me., April 9.—Fatrick O'Malley of No. 45 Cotton street, ex-soldier veteran, was the first man to step seventy years old and a 1917 War Savings Liberty Loan headquarters and subscribe for a $1,000 bond of the third issue. He has already bought a bond of the two preceding issues.

"While I am not a millionaire, I want to do my part towards putting the third loan over the top," said veteran O'Malley. He enlisted in 1862 in the 17th United States Infantry and served throughout the War of the Rebellion.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid, which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the allowance times clog, and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with slot headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.

NAT GOODWIN A HAPPY HUSBAND, SAYS MOTHER

Seemed Devoted to Present Wife; Is Surprised at News of Divorce Suit

By SIBYL WARNE.

Mrs. Caroline R. Goodwin of No. 73 Forest street, Roxbury, mother of Nat Goodwin, the noted actor, declares she cannot understand what the differences are that led to the estrangement of her son and Mrs. Edith Wilson, formerly Marjorie Moreland. Mrs. Goodwin said:

"Nat is a devoted son and is always good to me and my husband. He comes here once in a while to spend a week with us. But he is punctual when it comes to sending us letters, which are descriptive of his travels and filled to the brim with kind thoughts for our welfare and happiness. A father and mother could not wish for a more dutiful son.

"Now regarding his marriages, that is a question I do not care to discuss. He is my boy and I know he would not like his mother to discuss his marriage affairs in the press. I know he is a public man and that there is a clamor every time he does anything, but do feel that his private affairs ought to remain that way.

SEEMED HAPPY WITH WIFE.

"You know Nat is now starring in a show called 'Why Marry?' and that tells the story. He was here with Marjorie Moreland, his wife, and I received them as only a mother can. They were so happy that it seems strange to hear of their estrangement. All I can say about it is what I read in the papers. She was with him Sunday, so him up in his suit. I understand against that film company.

"I cannot understand why she is suing for divorce. If I could I'd go over to New York and see what it's all about. I'm not so young as I used to be, you know, and traveling would be hard on me and my husband. I am Nat's father is close to 85.

"They tell me the play in which Nat is now starring is very homelike. He's going to leave shortly with the show for other cities. They call the suburban circuit. I don't know if his wife is going along or not. He has not written me anything about his marital affairs."

Here Mrs. Goodwin glanced at a picture of her boy Nat on the wall, saying that it resembled her. She pointed to another photograph of her son "Eddie," who, she said, died when he was forty-nine years old.

"Eddie was an actor, too," added Mrs. Goodwin.

Walking toward the piano she nodded to three photographs in an open album.

"These pictures represents Nat, myself and Eddie at the age of forty.

"They tell me I was a fine looking woman at that age."

"You certainly were and are today," added the AMERICAN reporter.

AN AWFULLY GOOD BOY.

Continuing, Mrs. Goodwin remarked that she had a life-size photograph of Nat in every room in the house and in the hallways.

"I don't think anything would give him greater pleasure than to go to his dear mother," said Mrs. Goodwin. "He's an awfully good boy. He was a good scholar in school.

"What difference does it make to the public if my boy has a failing out with his wife. He must have been unfair to his wife or he is good to his mother, and it is said that a boy who's true to his mother cannot be false to his wife. If I had them here —well, I must not talk about Nat and his troubles. He's a welcome here. He's the same sweet boy to me, and I can see him now as a child.

"I make it a practice never to ask him about his wife. He buried two of them. He's good to his mother."

ADMITS DIVORCE ACTION.

In New York Goodwin admitted that his wife is seeking a divorce, but claimed they are still very good friends and said he would not oppose the action.

"I can see nothing to be gained by denying the truth any longer," said Goodwin, "and I may as well admit that Mrs. Goodwin and I have agreed to disagree. The disagreement is as amicable as any dispute between a husband and wife can well be, and we understand each other perfectly.

MUST GIVE TO WIFE $100 HE HAD SAVED

Ronald S. McKinnon, who gave an address on Chemical Control, was in the Charlestown Municipal Court charged with the non-support of his wife and family. Mrs. McKinnon told the court in the early part of March, and since that time the family has been dependent on the wages of a fifteen-year-old son. On the witness stand he admitted that since March 15 he had saved $100.

Judge Sullivan found him guilty, and he received a suspended sentence of six months in the House of Correction, with the provision that he turn over the hundred dollars to his family.

MUST NOT REPRIMAND WAITRESSES IN PUBLIC

Chicago, April 9.—A new wage scale for 2,400 waitresses, dishwashers, cooks and other employes was presented today to more than 200 restaurant owners by the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Union. Strict rules are provided for waitresses. They must not do porter work or be reprimanded in public. Incidentally if they are working in places of men gone to war, they must receive the same wages.

100 AMBULANCE MEN WANTED BY RED CROSS

New York, April 9. — One hundred American men are at once by the Red Cross for ambulance service behind the Italian lines. Captain George Ulassy, attached to the Red Cross commission to Italy, has opened recruiting offices at the headquarters of the Atlantic Division, No. 41 Union square. Only men of military age need apply, and applications will be received.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER DESTROYED BY FIRE

Baltimore, April 9.—The Sangstad, a Norwegian tramp steamery was destroyed by fire following the dropping of a hot rivet or a cigarette on a pile of tarred rope and sulphurized fuel which caused an explosion. The Sangsted is of 4,500 tons gross and is under charter by the United Fruit Company. She had no cargo.

Miss Mullen, German Victim in Paris, Known Here

Miss Emma G. Mullen, killed by long-range cannon while worshipping in a Parish church, was a friend of Miss Alice Wells Buttles of Cambridge and frequently visited her.

Miss Emma G. Mullen, who was killed by a German shell while attending a church service in Paris, was a frequent visitor before the war to the home of Miss Alice Wells Buttles, Radner Hall, Charles River road, Cambridge.

The young women had been friends for years, and at one time occupied the same apartment in New York city. Recently Miss Buttles received a letter from Miss Mullen stating that she had given up all her large salary for war relief work and was practically penniless.

She was particularly interested in the care of dependents of men at the front, and told of giving to one of her proteges, an old woman in the Home for the Aged, half a pound of butter, a quarter pound of tea and thirty-six loaves of sugar. This was saved by Miss Mullen from her daily allotment at the cafes.

Miss Mullen was an authority on matters pertaining to women's dress and was the trusted adviser of a number of large mercantile firms.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE IN REVERE LUNCH WAGON

Edward C. Butler, of Kimball avenue, Revere, today cut his throat and left wrist with a razor in his lunch cart on Ocean avenue for the Agassiz Beach street. Two years ago his wife shot and killed herself. Butler was discovered by Constable Shaughnessy, who notified the police. The man was taken to the Frost Hospital.

WEAK KIDNEYS MEAN A WEAK BODY

When you're fifty, your body begins to creak a little at the hinges. Motion is more slow and deliberate. Not so young as I used to be" is a frequent and unwelcome thought. Certain bodily functions upon which good health and good spirits so much depend, are impaired. The whole spot is generally the bladder. Unpleasant symptoms show themselves. Painful and annoying complications in other organs arise. This is particularly true with elderly people. If you only knew how this trouble can be shortened. For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the inconvenience and pain due to advancing years. It is a standard, old-time home remedy, and needs no introduction. It is now put up in odorless, tasteless capsules. These are easier and more pleasant to take than the oil in bottles.

Each capsule contains about one dose of five drops. Take them just like you would an aspirin tablet, with a small swallow of water. They soak into the system and relieve the pain, backache, and general worn out feeling from your loins. They will quickly set you right. Three stiffened joints, that backache, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gall-stones, gravel, "brick-dust," etc. They are an effective remedy for all diseases of the bladder, kidney, liver, stomach and allied organs.

Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. GOLD MEDAL are the pure, original imported Haarlem Oil Capsules. Accept no substitute.—Advertisement.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Here is the lowest average strength of left fielders in the last decade of the major leagues.

Even with the terrific hitting power and brilliant fielding of Veach, of Detroit, the heavy hitting of Joe Jackson and the slugging prowess of Jack Wheat, Neale and Sherry Magee, the left fielders of the major leagues lack the punch that has been present in former years.

Without hitting ability, what are left fielders? In these days of predominance of left-handed batters; of scientific direction of the attack toward right field, a left fielder becomes less and less important in the scheme of things unless he can hit.

Yet we fail to find them there. New York, we discover, leading the National League left fielders because of Burns' cleverness at bat and at extracting bases on balls, worrying pitchers, rather than the slugging power.

Veach, who now figures ahead of all the left fielders, earns his lead by heavy hitting, and Jackson, although a finished fielder, hangs on closely to the top because of his swattotorial strength.

Jackson has not hit as well since he joined the White Sox, as he did prior to that time. Yet he is in many respects a much improved ballplayer, hitting for-time from farther than for his individual average, and fielding a lot better. Jackson is learning and has learned a lot of baseball.

Cleveland, with Graney and Smith to alternate, shows fairly high rank, and New York is better for having Wilfred Hodle. Don't forget that statement—Ping will add punch to any club when he is used right.

HENNIGAN AND ROTHGEB IN JAMAICA PLAIN RUN

The ever reliable Jimmy Hennigan and Rothgeb of the Irish-American A. C. are prominently included in the thirty entries thus far received for the Jamaica Plain ten-mile road race Patriots' Day. In addition, Mike Devens is going to send down a delegation, while several of New York's best runners are expected by the promoters.

The race will start from Centre street, thence to Beach street, to Washington street, to Ashland street, to Hyde Park avenue, to South street, and back to the starting point. Entries close April 17 with William F. Reddish, No. 19 Estralla street, Jamaica Plain.

BLOOM FAILS TO HUSTLE; CLINE GETS AWARD

By RINGSIDE.

The blow-off came in the seventh canto when Referee Dick Fleming, disgusted with Bloom's tame battling, disqualified him and declared Cline the winner.

The bout failed to please; in fact, it was not far removed from being an out-and-out bloomer. Cline, proving himself to be in the pink of condition, started out to complete a hurry-up job, but dropped Bloom for the count of nine in the first round and did likewise in the second.

The rest of the show, though two substitutions were made, pleased. Young Ciolla of Woonsocket, took Young Balling Nelson's place against Billy Carney of New Bedford, and won on a foul in the fourth frame. The bout bristled in action as long as it lasted.

Bobby Dyson, Frankie (Young) Britt's stablemate, added another kayo to his long list. But it was Young Donohue of Woonsocket, not Kid Levin of Lawrence, whom he battened. The kayo came in the midst of the opening round. Kid Lee and Johnny Gray, two Chelsea boys, had it out in six extremely busy rounds in the curtain-raiser. It looked as if Lee had a little on Gray, but Referee Fleming called the scrap a draw.

JOHNNY DOWNES LANDS VERDICT OVER RECTOR

Pittsfield, April 9.—Johnny Downes of South Boston clearly outfought Young Rector of New York in their ten-round bout before the Twentieth Century A. C. Downes, who substituted for Billy Meyers, was in his best form and gave the Gotham boy a good trouncing. Young Discos of Pittsfield stopped Jack Brady of North Adams in the first round.

HERZOG IN NEW YORK; HEMPSTEAD STAYS MUM

New York, April 9.—Charley Herzog, former Giant captain, who refuses to sign with the Boston Braves, arrived in New York, but did not meet President Hempstead.

Hempstead states that he has not talked with the hold-out or made any engagement with him. He adds he will have no more dealings with Herzog unless he reports to Manager McGraw when the season opens.

PROVIDENCE SHY ON GOOD POLICE "TIMBER"

Providence, April 9.—The police situation is said to be serious as the result of a report made by Dr. Clifford Mc Griffin, police surgeon, who reported that 120 applicants passed examination and 107 failed to qualify in the past year. Despite the modifying of stringent rules heretofore in force it is said that "timber for police officers is "mighty scarce."

"JOHN L." AS I KNEW HIM"

BY JAMES J. CORBETT.

THIS is the forty-third chapter of a series which James J. Corbett is writing on "John L. as I Knew Him." It relates many heretofore unpublished incidents in the life of the great warrior. The next instalment will appear tomorrow.

Many stories have been told concerning the brutality of John L. Practically every one is a fabrication. The grand old warrior, rough and brusque in manner, took the keenest enjoyment in threatening certain people with annihilation. That was one of John L.'s ways of extracting joy out of life; by pretending to be a bully. But some persons couldn't understand John L.'s ways—and that class came to look upon the great Bostonian as a none too desirable citizen.

And John L. had the further misfortune during his career to become involved frequently in affairs in which he was cast as the guilty person although, in reality, he was the innocent victim.

Some years ago headlines told about John L. Sullivan attacking a little newsboy. The story was made to read that John L. had hit the youngster. But John L. never struck the boy, even though he went to jail on such a charge. The real facts of the case are these:

John L. was standing on a street corner talking to a friend. The newsboy, seeing Sullivan and remembering that John L. often "crafs," for the boy rushed up, elbowed his way between John L. and his friend and jammed a paper into Sullivan's face.

ARRESTED FOR HITTING BOY.

"Want a paper, Mister?" he asked.

John L. replied in the negative and then he and his friend moved a little to one side so that the boy was not between them and went on with their conversation. But the youngster was not to be derided.

Once more he pushed the papers into Sullivan's face; then he began to tug at Sullivan's coat. Then he grabbed the hand of Sullivan and attempted to turn John L. around so the Bostonian would be facing him.

This last annoyance exasperated Sullivan, who seized his hand loose from that of the boy, and, without even turning around, pushed the boy back.

At once the youngster let out a yell and began crying that Sullivan had hit him. A crowd began to gather. Naturally its sympathy was with the kid.

Louder and louder shrieked the boy. Finally a policeman joined the group. The cop ran to him with the tale that Sullivan had hit him, and there was nothing else for the officer to do but to take John L. to jail.

MIXUP IN RESTAURANT.

Once in a restaurant, John L. engaged in friendly repartee with a pretty waitress who was serving him and some friends. At the conclusion of the meal John L. gave the waitress a $5 tip.

She thanked him very sweetly and as John L. was passing her by to go toward the door he gave her a playful pat on the cheek.

The manager of the restaurant, who had read stories about the alleged brutality of John L. Sullivan, mistook the pat as a blow on the waitress' face.

John L. was hitting a woman! Ah! So the manager, without waiting for details or an explanation, rushed out into the street and yelled for a policeman. And that's how it happened that John L. became accused of hitting a waitress.

Many years ago John L. was engaged to play the part of Simon Legree in one of the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" shows. For a number of weeks all went well.

But one day, according to the fellow who was playing "Uncle Tom," the pugilist became too realistic as the slave driver.

The actor claimed that John L. lashed him with entirely too much vim with the whip and went into court and sued John L., charging him with assault. Perhaps the actor needed a little publicity—and he got it at John L.'s expense.

Milford Fans Write Mack to Pit Fahey Against Red Sox

Milford fans want to put on a Milford day at Fenway Park next week.

Frank Fahey, who lives in the pretty suburban town, has been doing mighty nifty work for Connie Mack down in Florida. The young southpaw has worked regularly in the exhibition games and all Milford is "pulling" for him to hold on to his job with the Athletics.

The clan of Mack will be the Red Sox opponents when the American League lid is pried off in the Hub next Monday. The Athletics are coming for four games and Milford fans have written Mack beseeching him to use Fahey in one of the contests.

If Mack grants their wish, practically all Milford will turn out at Fenway Park the afternoon Fahey hurls.

BENTON AND PERRITT HAMMERED BY INDIANS

New Orleans, La., April 9. — The Cleveland Indians shut out the Giants, 10 to 0. Two errors by Rariden proved costly. Rube Benton was in the box for the Giants the first five innings and was hammered unmercifully.

He was relieved by Perritt, and the Clevelanders found him for three additional runs.

PITT A. A. BOXER RELIEVES FALL OF HIS TITLE

Tommy Fall of Lowell, 108-pound champion, lost his title in the trial bouts of the national amateur boxing championships at Mechanics building, when he was outpointed by Owen McManus of the Pittsburgh A. A.

The visiting boxer showed one of the cleverest defences seen in amateur ranks in many years and through good ring work in the first round, earned the decision over the New England boy.

Fall Kept out of the New England championships so as to be right for last night's trials. However, he failed to come through. In the first round Fall did the better work, but in the second and third McManus had matters all his own way. It was the only bout in this class.

Although Fall's downfall was one of the big surprises of the evening, the most interesting battle was between M. LaBelle of Gardner and William Roberts of the Pelham Bay Naval Station in the bantyweight class.

LaBelle proved a great comedian, as well as a finished boxer. In the second round he hit Roberts on the jaw and knocked the sailor out.

BENNY LEONARD GIVES BORRELL FINE LAMMING

Philadelphia, April 9—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion and boxing instructor at Camp Upton, soundly defeated Young Joe Borrell in a six-round bout. Borrell was a mark for every blow Leonard aimed at him. Benny almost knocked the local boy out in the fourth round by a vicious punch right to the jaw. The blow sent Borrell through the ropes.

Eastern League Adds Providence and Waterbury

As expected, Providence and Waterbury have been awarded Eastern baseball league franchises. Portland and Lawrence are the two clubs dropped, and Bill Hinchman will manage Waterbury.

All this was done at the meeting at Springfield. The contest with Anthrace Worcester, Springfield, Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport and New London is definite as to existence and Waterbury. The league has applied for Class A rating.

The season opens May 22. Prices, including the war tax, will be 50 and 25 cents.

MISKE FAR TOO ROUGH FOR OLD TOM COWLER

Minneapolis, April 8.—Billy Miske of St. Paul advanced another step up the pugilistic ladder by scoring a technical knockout over Tom Cowler, Dogtown heavyweight, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round contest.

In the ninth a right to the jaw sent the Englishman down for the count of eight, the bell saving him. In the seventh Cowler had received a cut at the bell and Tom fell from sheer weakness after the gong sounded and he rose to his feet, only to fall a second time without being hit, when the referee stopped the bout.

George, as we are him, is somewhat peeved at the way critics have tried to cover up his chassis. According to all announcements, and things like that, the match was supposed to have complete say as to what players should be signed and so forth, but apparently is not holding true, for the Georgian in this particular case.

YEP, HERZOG IS NEEDED.

This, added to the fact that Herzog is as essential to the Boston club, as Wagner is to the Pirates, makes it well known that the Miracle Man is looking three or four ways for Sunday. Until he gets an infield in some sort of shape, he hasn't a chance.

If Mathews realizes, too, that unless he strengthens immediately his team will be in for all sorts of a gate proposition, and that realization isn't making him the least bit more optimistic.

However, with his hands apparently tied, so far as getting a pitcher to assist, he is making the most of yesterday's victory to put a little more fire into his athletes, and thereby build up a fairly passable record for the tag end of the trip.

Word has reached the Braves' camp that Jimmy Smith, giant infielder had suffered a relapse, and was now threatened with pneumonia at Macon.

This is just another one of those little things that tend to retard progress in the Braves' camp. Poor Jimmy, according to all accounts, is a real comer, and will be very welcome in the ranks.

Game in New York Friday

New York, April 9.—New York has its first big league exhibition of the season Friday when the Yankees and the Dodgers clash on Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

PINKY GARDNER BACK FOR BOUT WITH YOKEL

Pinky Gardner was due in the Hub this morning, where he will put in the finishing touches to his training for his match with Mike Yokel for the middleweight championship of the world at the Garden Thursday night. Gardner is anxious to get back to the scene of his first big victory and will be right on edge when he steps into the ring with the Lowell boy.

C. A. C. COMPLETES ITS CARD FOR THIS WEEK

Three bouts and an eight-rounder will comprise Friday night's Commercial A. C. boxing card. Dave Morrell of Malden and Young Donahue of Woonsocket, Jimmy Brown of South Boston and Willie Woods of Manchester, N. H., and Joe Dupont of Woonsocket and Joe Bilodo of Gloucester are the battlers who will furnish the ring entertainment. In the curtain-raiser Charles D'Angelo of Revere and Harry Mansfield of Lawrence will furnish the sport.

SOX COME HOME AFTER THREE MORE GAMES

Double-Header Today With Dodgers, Then Battle at Chattanooga for Final

By HENRY L. DAILY.

Birmingham, Ala., April 9.—After battling thirteen innings to a 6 to 6 decision at Mobile, when darkness put an end to the hostilities, the Red Sox and Brooklyn Dodgers arrived here early today ready for one more to last game in their series.

Those and a half hours both home, and their stay through the long afternoon session until Umpire Bill Klem was forced to call time.

The Sox were without several of their regulars. Hoblitzel was not feeling well and Schang was sent to the initial sack. Scott, who was struck on the left leg in Sunday's game at New Orleans, could hardly walk and Fred Thomas was used at short.

DALTERT GETS BANISHED.

The Dodgers were equally as bad off. Wheat was absent, as was Mitchell and Mack. Wheat alternating on right field and when Daubert and Miss ceased in the tenth inning, Cutshaw played first base. Hendrix was put out of the game and Miller went to first.

Mays and Leonard worked for the Sox, and Cheney and Mitchell were on the job for the Dodgers. The Red Sox batted safely twelve times and the Dodgers found the Sox twirlers to their liking for eleven singles.

The Sox and Dodgers are leaving a trail of extra inning games. There have been three of them within a week and all have been fought to a finish. Each of the games to date has furnished amusement for the fans. In the fifth frame with Ol Mays on first, Daubert popped up to Miss Miller. Mays started to catch Miss tapping Wally reached for the ball, turned and threw himself at the bag, hurtling O'Mara on the play for the out.

SCHANG HAS HIS FUN.

Later in the game a line drive got caught in Schang's mitt and for several minutes it could not be dislodged. This delay gave the Dodgers a chance to get a base and they eventually scored a run, despite Wally's effort to quiet the old cut of the Boston backstop. In the fifth Brooklyn scored its first two runs in the second on three hits. The other counters were registered in the sixth, eighth, ninth and eleventh. The Sox got one in the fifth.

A double-header was to be played this afternoon, but the Red Sox and Dodgers were to go against the local team, followed by the game between the regulars.

The teams play at Chattanooga tomorrow, then head for home.

Manager Barrow has planted Pitcher Louis Jaynes with the Mobile Club. He looms up as a fair prospect, but the Red Sox leader thinks Pitcher Harry Hooper, who is with the Philadelphia Shipyard team, will prove the right man to bring him through if Louis is ever going to shine in the big show.

STIRRING NOVEL MAY BE A PROPHECY

Gisela and Her Friends Start for Various Parts of Germany to Spread the Propaganda

Principal Characters.

GISELA VON NIEBUHR, junker leader of coterie of hospital nurses, working in Germany she has taken a vow not to wed.
HELDINE VON EBERT, and MIMI BRANDT, her close friends.
MRS. ANN PRENTISS and MRS. TOLBY (Kate Prentiss), whom Gisela met in America and who now, in Germany, are opening the eyes of the girls to German perfidy.
MARIE VON EBERL, in charge of a hospital at Munich and a Socialist.
FRAU VON EBERL, mother of the two Ebert girls.
GEORG SCHUMYER, selected suitor of Gisela.
FREIHERR FRANZ VON WETTERLEIN, whom Gisela learns to like.

By Gertrude Atherton.

Chapter IV.

"I HAVE it to me," she said grimly. "There are not only the women in the towns who will have been mutilated these many years but, here in Berlin, the wives of men whose money is financing the war, men who permitted the war because they hoped for infinite riches, but are now terrified that they will not have a pfennig if the war goes on much longer.

"They dare not rebel, for they would be shot, and their fortunes confiscated; their banks, industries, shops, run by crowd minor officials. But the women! I can count a few many of them. Even if their husbands suspected, they would wink at it, willing that the women should take the risk and they reap the benefit. God! How they hate the war—every woman I know.

"Leave this part of Germany to me, and be prepared for Schreckenblatt. There will be no mercy, no politics in this revolution—merely one end in view. The Russians are babies, but we are not. Hunn shall cease to be a term of opprobrium, for female Huns will end the war."

Countess Niebuhr, whose love of intrigue had not diminished with the years, and who had known more of the Pan-Germanic plot than her native husband had guessed—who, moreover, had had a long and enlightening interview with one of her sons but a few days before—undertook to win over many women of her own class who had suffered death and disillusion.

A Skilful Move

Elska, unable to go to a hospital in Saxony was skilfully managed, and Lili went on a concert tour for the Red Cross. It was not worth while to campaign in Austria, the moment Germany was helpless she would collapse automatically.

In the course of a month the secret propaganda was moving with the invisible, sinister, irresistible suction of an undertow. The immense army of women who did Gisela's work proved themselves true Germans, logical products of generations of discipline, concentration, secretiveness and a thoroughness, even in trifling details, as implacable as it was automatic. They made a few mistakes. When they discovered—and they did—that vice was also Teutonic—that they had confided in some girl or woman whose interest was merely of a filthy carnal betrayal, she disappeared immediately and forever.

Gisela, obtaining a commission to inspect the hospitals "back of the front," visited each of the States in turn and addressed thousands of women in groups of two or three hundred, gathered under the eye of the police in the name of one of the many war charities in which all women were engaged.

Victory the Watchword

The lieutenants prepared these women, and Elska, inspired, crystal-clear, coherent, the result she encouraged with the example of the German women (and German women, despite all utter women), the peasants and the little girls, early in convincing that there was but one egress from their inescapable agonies. Victory under her leadership. If they stood firm, was inevitable.

She had the gift of a fiery torrent of speech, clear, steady eyes even when they flashed and blazed, and a warm and vivacious personality that convinced the individual as well as the mass that she had but one object, the liberation of the miserable women of her country, their deliverance from further sorrow, and that she was wholly lacking in personal ambition.

These women had known the gnawing sensation of suppressed appetite for two years. They had seen old men and women, sometimes their own, fall in the streets, dead or dying, because they no longer had the reserves of men and women in their youth or prime.

They had seen men blow out their brains in front of municipal buildings, cursing the Emperor, the military autocracy and even the government, always at odds with the war lords. They knew of suicides and child murder by despairing mothers that they hardly whispered to one another.

And all the children were emaciated and wailed continually for food, sleeping little, playing less, stunted in their growth and threatened with disease. If the war went on another year they would join the little Pollan victims on their shadowy plain (many of them feared for their daughters at home even as they feared for their young sons in the trenches. Barring a revolution, the war might last for years . . . years. "Peace proposals" irritated what little humour they had left and added to obscene loathing. "Victories" left them as cold as the mid-Winter had. . . . The Hohenzollerns, the other kings and princes, the cast-iron junkers, would cling fast to their own until the enemy Allies' day of judgment arrived. Surrender meant their quicker extermination; now, at least, they were still in the saddle, and they lived their haunted ages with the wine of lies.

The Alternative

It was the Hohenzollerns and defeat, or a republic and easy terms from the victors who would welcome a sound, debrutalized Germany, jealous of her lost honor, into the family of nations. The arguments were brief and simple. Gisela would have won over women far less despairing than these. And the fact that she had spent four years in America, studying its institutions and resources, convinced that the most susceptible official lies that the United States could pour money, men, ammunition, food into Europe, food into Russia, rope for countless years, and that the agitations of her pacifists, syndicalists, German agents and their fakers were but picturesque ripples on the surface of a nation covering over three million square miles and embracing more than one hundred million people.

Plant a War Garden

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET BUSY

SOME garden plants are not injured by light frosts, others are very susceptible. But it is better to err on the side of overcaution, even if you are a few days late with your first crops, rather than to have any of them killed, says the National War Garden Commission, of Washington. By watching the season and the weather closely and comparing with the groups here given the home food grower can determine when it is perfectly safe for him to set his various groups into the open ground.

Plants not injured by light frosts:

Marie group: Cabbage, Irish potatoes, onion sets, parsley, salad groups, such as kale, spinach and mustard.

Later groups: Lettuce, radishes, parsnips, carrots, beets, wrinkled peas, early sweet corn.

The above may be planted in the group order when heavy frosts are over and the soil dry enough to work.

The second group—vegetables killed even by a light frost—are as follows:

Early string beans, late sweet corn, early tomato plants (which should be protected by newspaper, etc., in sudden chilly evenings).

Late (to be planted only after the ground has begun to warm up): Cucumbers, melons, squash, lima beans, tomatoes, egg plant and peppers.

If you will plant your tomatoes, egg plant, peppers and cauliflower seeds in indoor boxes, or pots, at the time you make your earliest outdoor plantings, the plants will be big enough for transplanting when the ground is warm.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthrox which can be obtained from any druggist in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

What Patriotic Women Can Do, as Shown by the Results Achieved by the Mayor's Committee in Our Metropolis

Reprinted by Permission of Good Housekeeping for April

Sophie Irene Loeb, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. Nelson Henry, Secretary; Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Chairman; and Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Chairman for Manhattan of the Mayor's Committee of Women.

(From Good Housekeeping for April)

IF Socrates were alive today he would gasp at the twentieth century significance of his words: "Nothing is permanent but change." The Kaleidoscopic wheel of events which this old world is turning every hour causes the every-day mortal to shake his head at some new and startling performance and say: "Nothing surprises me."

Therefore, when old Father Knickerbocker awoke one morning in January, rubbed his eyes and read that the newly elected Mayor had appointed a group of women under the name of the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defence, he smiled, folded his newspaper and went about his business.

But when, thirty days later, the self-same New Yorker read a report that came from City Hall as to what had been accomplished by this seemingly "harmless" committee, as many civic committees of the fair sex have been designated, he stood attention and could hardly keep from blinking his astonishment. In a word, New York realised that there was a new form of city government, though legally it was only quasi-official.

The committee had taken over the Municipal Employment Bureau, which was on its last legs, put some woman in charge, and proceeded to get employment for those who needed it. It made of the department, which had been but a question bureau, a place where working women could qualify and get work. The figures of placements are mounting up, and the main effort is being directed to secure service for elderly unemployed women and unskilled girls.

A Big Work Done

While a sub-committee was working on this matter another group, led by the chairman, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, was busy, with Federal, State and city food administrators, to meet the great distress arising from the critical coal situation. This was no new work for the chairman—this appealing to officials in the interest of suffering families. She had had considerable experience, though now for the first time officially.

As the mother of five boys, the cry of children is particularly appealing to her, and years ago, when the Penny Lunch Service in public schools became necessary in the great metropolis, she offered her services to us who were carrying on the campaign, and made a successful personal appeal to the City Fathers to put this much-needed measure in the public schools.

Not long after this the important statute of widows' pensions was strongly combatted, and the mother heart promptly responded. She was seen in the Legislature, in the offices of legislators, making appeals for the bill.

After it was passed and the administration of widows' pensions begun, it was found necessary to eliminate the charitable element that seemed to have crept into it.

Again she was in Albany with us until the Governor signed this amendment. Today, through the Board of Child Welfare created to administer the Widows' Pension law, this city is caring for thirteen thousand children and over four thousand widows.

Suffice it to say that the chairman of this new city emergency group of workers, whose energy had been directed in securing official sanction for the above-mentioned and other reforms, "knew the ropes" to an appreciable degree, and was able to cut the red tape and secure quick action.

Thus in two days two hundred tons of coal daily were secured from the Federal, State and city fuel administrators—a priority order devoid of false teeth. This made it possible for the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defense to provide one hundred pounds of coal for each of four thousand families every day.

Prior to this action these people had stood in line for hours, and the coal dealer in the congested areas, being primarily a business man and not a benefactor, saw to it that his steady customers were supplied first. Thus the seekers of fuel from thousands of families where there was sickness, old age and tiny tots left the line disappointed and disheartened.

These necessitous cases were the ones reached by the Mayor's committee through the first-aid red ticket, which carried with it the penalty of fine and imprisonment if its priority was unrecognised; and every corner policeman was a ready referee.

75,000 Families Aided

Besides this a fund was raised and coal provided for seventy-five thousand poor families who, after investigation, were found to have neither coal nor cash.

With the salient suffering thus safely prevented and a sub-committee put in charge, the chairman and her committee turned to Washington and met with a life-saving bulletin for the approval of the man who made food famous—Hoover.

This man of the hour hadn't a minute to spare, but when he heard of the arrival of this small regiment of women recruits whose dynamic force had already vibrated to the capital, he called them into conference on one of the most important plans for eliminating the profiteer in their own city; and before they left a document was on its way to New York for the approval of the city and State food administrators, the women having agreed to their part in the program.

A Valuable Precedent

The plan, which will likely prove a precedent for other cities to follow, was this: Cards are given to every retail dealer in the city selling food necessities. On each card is printed the wholesale price the dealer pays, and also the price to be charged to the consumer, together with the margin of profit set forth by the food authorities, so that she who buys may read. Every dealer must have these prices plainly visible or be subject to proper penalty. Dr. Jonathan Day, Commissioner of Food and Markets, in co-operation with the police, inaugurated a system of inspection, by dividing the city into police precincts, and the Mayor's Council of Women on National Defense, together with many ladies drawn from women in all walks of life, help police the job and report all dealers who are charging more than the rates thus printed.

Puss in Boots Jr.

By David Cory

NOW, let me see where we left off in the last story. Oh, yes. I remember. Little Puss Junior was in Gooseville sitting in the stone bench that circled the fountain where the big marble goose squirted water through its big bill.

"Well, it was very kind of you to tell me that interesting story," said little Puss to the Goose Bentfeel, who had just related the story of how the geese saved Rome. "But I must be on my way.

For he who tarries much too long
Will find he has been doing wrong.
One must be up and on his way,
And not spend too much time in play."

And Puss took off his cap and bowed and then away he went and soon Gooseville was far, far behind, and by and by, not so very long, he came to a great forest where dwelt an old woodcutter in a little house.

So Puss went up and knocked on the door, but no one came, and, as the door was bolted, Puss thought to content himself by sitting down on a bench outside, and pretty soon he was fast asleep. And while he slept he had a dream, and this is what it was:

Once upon a time there was a noble Duke who was greatly worried because many of his beautiful roses were stolen from his garden. So one day he went into the forest to find an honest woodcutter whom he could trust to watch over his flowers. And as the Duke walked along he heard a funny little voice close at hand, and, looking down, he saw a small figure dressed in green clothes.

"What wouldst thou have?" asked the Duke.

"Let me guard thy roses," replied the little man.

"How dost thou know I need some one to guard them?" asked the Duke. "Because I know everything," said the little man.

"Come with me," cried the Duke, "for a man who knows everything, even though he is so larger than thee, is worth more than a thousand wise men!" The Duke then turned upon his heel and retraced his steps, followed by the little man of the wood.

And just than an acorn fell off a tree and hit little Puss Junior on the nose, and of course he woke up with a start. But, would you believe it? As he rubbed his eyes with his paw he saw the Duke and the little man of the wood walking away. "Goodness me!" cried Puss, "my dream is true," and he jumped down and followed them, and by and by they came to the castle, and Puss hid in the garden, for he thought he might find out who stole the beautiful roses.

"Well, after a while, when evening came, the little man of the wood sprinkled all the flowers with snuff powder, and then he hid himself behind a bush. And after a while, when it grew dark, two corniers came out of the palace and, seeing no one near, plucked dozens and dozens of the beautiful roses and threw them over the garden wall, where a man with a great basket hit them away.

But, Oh dear me! In a few minutes those two courtiers began to sneeze their heads off, for the snuff powder got up their noses and in their eyes, and while they were sneezing, the little man of the wood ran into the castle and called the Duke. And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Novel Use for Cushion Covers

A military man who took part in the capture of Goza has sent home the following description of the Turkish positions before the city: "Immediately behind the barbed wire were the front-line trenches. How any one could have existed in them would puzzle a Zulu, for they were built anyhow. The material consisted of flour bags and cushion covers. The latter were in every size and shape, and the colors took in every shade it is possible to imagine. Shades of Joseph's coat! The material changed from cheap chintzes to fine silk with patterns worked in gold and silver threads."

Making Home Pleasant

THE PART THAT PAINT CAN PLAY

Great Step Forward When Kitchens Are Made Agreeable Places to Work In

By Loretto C. Lynch,

Instructor War Cookery New York Evening High School for Women.

WHY, oh, why, do they paint the kitchen of the ordinary Eastern flat green—not a soft, neutral green, but shiny, pea-green or leaf-green or Paris green?

I do not wonder that so many wives of poor men are nervous, irritable and discontented. But they're not, you say? Many, many of them are. They're hoping that some day Mike or John or Joe will "have something" so that they can get out of the kitchen.

And as I ride along on the elevated railroad and look into one home after another, with windows open to admit the first welcome Spring breeze, I do not wonder that these poor women are looking to "get out of the kitchen." For their kitchens are the most uncomfortable, unlovely places you could imagine. Their innate craving for the beautiful is rebelling.

I asked the agent of a hundred-family tenement why all the kitchens were painted this awful green. I asked him why, of all colors in the world, he chose mud shade for the woodwork.

Tenants Don't Care

"Never thought anything about it," he said. "Tenants don't care. Each year in the Spring we repaint, and it wouldn't make any difference to us. We'd make it most any color rather than have them move."

The housing problem in every large city is somewhat of a problem. But, after all, people en masse usually get what they want. The trouble with many folks is that they have no standards. They do not know what they want. "Good enough," or "It will do," are statements which retard progress.

"You cook so nicely and you are so willing to do when you are here," I suggested to a young Italian girl who was in one of my wintry cookery classes. "Do you practice much at home?"

"No, no," she smiled. "My kitchen—Uh! Uh! It is not like this kitchen. It is bright green—the walls—one gas jet—it does not give much light to see"——

And I could have added more a crayon or two on the wall, a broken, partly framed mirror, an overcoat or a hanging on the door and a once white curtain hanging on the window. There is a gas range rented by the owner from the company, but it is plugged up and doesn't work well.

"But there is no demand for model tenements," builders tell me. Then that's the fault of the average woman, whose job is that of home selector and home maker.

In the slums of a great city a college girl friend rented a typical four-room cold-water tenement. Upon agreement to keep the place three months the owner allowed her to "fix it up." It cost her twenty dollars to put it in the order she wanted it. She lived there one year. So many came to admire the "experiment" that the owner asked her to renovate some other apartments in the same building. That was five years ago. Today she is superintendent of six large model tenements and has a waiting list of desirable tenants. But just what did she do to make these undesirable homes pleasant and desirable?

The ideal kitchen is all white, but the average woman, she realised, does not want the bother of keeping a white kitchen spotlessly clean. So she chose for the walls a soft shade of tasteless brown washable paint. The woodwork was an oak finish. There was an oak finished built-in kitchen cabinet. Because the tenants had to use the kitchen as a dining-room too she put in a table that swung flat against the wall when not in use.

Some of the kitchens were done in a soft tone of gray and the woodwork finished in a darker gray. On the dark side of the house the kitchens were done in a creamy yellow washable paint and the woodwork was of light oak. This made the kitchen appear lighter than it really was.

The average woman conducts the greater part of her household work in the kitchen. These are times when one is apt to become depressed sadly. So this year, when you do the regular Spring housecleaning, endeavor to try the psychological effect of an artistic kitchen.

Banish Crayons

Unhook the overcoats from the kitchen door. Banish the crayons to some other room. Trim down the calendar with the impossible picture until it is merely a "tear calendar." Have the dust collecting clock that never goes repaired or sell it for junk.

The gas companies have a corps of men willing to put the stove you rented from them into usable condition if you but seek their aid.

Get rid of that ex-parlor curtain that obliterates light from the kitchen and substitute a little cheese-cloth sash curtain finished perhaps with ball trimmings.

Root through the pots and pans. Have repaired or sell those of the junk heap those unusable ones that are cluttering up valuable space. Make your kitchen a delightful little workshop, and no matter how modest your means, for the first time of your life you'll begin to enjoy it, enjoy being in and working in your kitchen.

Pneumonia Pointers

HOW TO AVOID CATCHING THE DISEASE

PNEUMONIA of the prevailing kind is due to a germ known as the pneumococcus. There are four deadly types of this germ, which can be distinguished from each other by certain tests, and for type one a serum has been perfected at the Rockefeller Institute which has reduced the death rate from thirty to about ten per cent. Examination of the expectoration determines which type is at work.

Pneumonia is the easiest of the acute infectious diseases to diagnose. The disease begins with a decided shaking chill, then a fever, followed by fever. The fever continues for from five to ten days, when it suddenly falls, reaching the normal in about twenty-four hours. This sudden clearing up is known as the crisis, and is usually attended by heavy sweating.

The breathing is shallow and rapid—about sixty respirations per minute may usually be counted. The pulse is accelerated. Cough is a prominent symptom and is soon accompanied by a rusty or bloody expectoration. The face is flushed, the tongue heavily coated,—and fever sores appear about the mouth. Delirium is rarely absent.

Pneumonia frequently follows influenza, and special precautions should be observed in the course of the latter disease. It is said that pulmonary complications be avoided, thus lowering vitality due to exposure, fatigue, overstrain, fatigue and alcoholism must be guarded against; it is the reduction of resisting power that accounts for our deaths in such infections as pneumonia.

In young, robust patients, the outlook for recovery is excellent. After the age of sixty pneumonia is always a grave matter. In those addicted to alcohol the disease is especially fatal, since the drinker's resisting powers are very poor. Irregular habits of life, or kidney disease make the situation more serious. A weak and irregular pulse, running very quickly, with pronounced delirium, is an unfavorable feature.

The rules that should be followed in a pneumonia case are as follows: The sick room should be quiet, sunny, very freely ventilated and with no unnecessary furniture. The temperature of the room should be kept at from 68 to 70 degrees F. unless the physicians prescribes otherwise. Use a single bed, if possible. The body and bed clothing should be warm but of light weight. Scald all utensils used. Destroy expectoration. This should be received on gauze pads, placed in a paper receptacle, handy for the patient or nurse, and burned.

Patient must be kept in bed and never allowed to sit up. Exercise must in no circumstances be allowed to sit up. The pneumonia patient must never be left alone since in sudden delirium he may jump from a window, fall down stairs, or do injury to the house. Keep patient quiet, and allow no visitors. Keep room clean and orderly. Give attendment regularly. Cleanliness of patient and bed is essential—special attention should be paid to the hands, on account of the infectiousness of the expectoration. Have an ice bag and hot water bags. Change bedding and arrange pillows. Give temperature-reducing baths as directed.

YOUTH! YOUTH! YOUTH!

—the Best Part of a Woman's Life—
Why Should It Vanish So Quickly?

Don't let your youth get And shove all, don't let your youthful appearance through old-fashioned preludes. Women who a few years ago scorned the use of face preparations of any kind, now depend on them to keep a youthful appearance. And this is equally true of the hair color restorer. Constantly, more and more women are using Q-ban Hair Color Restorer to keep their hair dark and glossy and free from gray.

Q-ban is not a dye. This you can prove by trying it on your combings. Dyes stain them instantly, but Q-ban has no immediate effect. Q-ban is simply a delightful toilet requisite for restoring the natural color of the hair.

Q-ban does not stain the scalp, wash or rub off or prevent washing or waving the hair. Easily applied by brushing or combing through the hair.

DEMOCRACY — BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1918 — LIBERTY

LARGER DRAFTS CALLED FROM TRAINING

Boston Sending Out Many Men for Service at Sea—More Coming In

By Paul F. Whelton.

Aboard the Receiving Ship at Boston, April 9.—Men and more men—is the present cry from all training stations where ships are leaving for service at sea. Large drafts are becoming more and more a daily feature of Boston receiving ship life, but notwithstanding this fact the pier ship personnel because of the daily arrival of huge drafts of men from other stations, continues to hover in the vicinity of its original mark.

The latest and one of the largest drafts to leave the receiving ship bound for a training station on the Middle Atlantic coast, attracted a larger crowd than any previous draft while the men waited for their train to be made up at the South Station. The bluejackets were marched from the ship to the terminal in charge of an officer and were accompanied by the ship's band. An impromptu concert was given at the station train shed by the band.

Even the engineer of the train was in spirit with the occasion and, after the sailors had boarded it, pulled his train out slowly that the men might be able to hear every note of the last piece of music.

Naval Notes

Yeoman Chares D. Kent of the executive office aboard the receiving ship has been advanced to the rank of chief yeoman. Chief Kent is a former Louisville, Ky., newspaperman, and until his enlistment covered Camp Zachary Taylor, the local national army cantonment for a leading Louisville daily.

* * *

The forty odd attaches of the executive office on the receiving ship now take their daily exercise on the viaduct every morning before the heavy work of the day begins. The innovation is on the suggestion of Chief Maniff.

* * *

After a year of steady, active duty, unbroken by any period of leave, Seaman John H. Wear of Division 8 has been given seventy-two hours to spend with friend wife and the kids in Brooklyn, N. Y. Seaman Wear for a number of years before enlistment, was employed on vessels of the Ward and Hawaiian-American lines out of New York.

* * *

Abe Arensberg, alias "Al Lewis," the former athletic trainer, has arrived aboard the receiving ship. Arensberg's specialty is the handling of boxers.

Interbarrack baseball teams are being organized and a schedule is being arranged. The first game of the season was won by Barracks Four, as they defeated Barracks Three.

GRADUATE MORE LIEUTENANTS AT AYER

Unsuccessful Candidates Will Be Sent Back to the Next School

By William Flynn.

Camp Devens, Ayer, April 9.—Sixty per cent. of the candidates at the third officers' training school are scheduled to graduate and be recommended for commissions as second lieutenants, according to an authoritative announcement.

This percentage is below that of the Plattsburg camps and is due in part to the fact that none of the men at this school were intended to be commissioned in the ordnance or quartermaster departments, but were scheduled for line duty.

Eighteen of the candidates who were practically assured of their commissions were married during the last week end.

It is said that the unsuccessful candidates will be sent back to the next school which starts shortly after May 1.

Fifty enlisted men are to be sent from this cantonment to attend the fourth engineers training school to take a three months' course to fit them for commissions as second lieutenants in the engineering branch. The order states that no more than 30 of the men shall be sent from engineer outfits. The school opens at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., on May 5 and all applications must be in the hands of Major George M. Peek, adjutant of the 76th division, by April 12.

While the candidates are attending the school they will be regarded as being on detached service and will receive the same pay and allowances as their present grades provide.

Editorial

The honor system of treating prisoners placed in the guard house for minor offences, which was inaugurated at Camp Devens by Colonel Frank Tompkins of "Boston's Own," has proved successful. Men who are once released seldom go back to the regimental jail.

A close watch is maintained over the prisoners, and those who show signs of repentance are rewarded by having their sentence shortened. The men have appreciated the fairness of the colonel and the result has had a beneficial effect upon the morale.

The great majority of the men in the Boston regiment who have seen the interior of the guardhouse and who have gone through the military mill as prisoners have gone back to the regiment better soldiers.

POST NAMES OF FIVE MEN AS DESERTERS

Two Bay State Men on List Being Hunted—$50 Reward Apiece

By William Flynn.

Camp Devens, April 9.—The names of five more privates who disappeared from this cantonment within the last two months have been posted at division headquarters and these men are being sought by the military authorities as deserters. A reward of $50 has been offered for information leading to the whereabouts of any of the men.

The alleged deserters are:

Harold H. Searles of A Company, Thirty-third Engineers, Cleveland, O., disappeared February 22.

Edward J. Foley, B Company, Thirty-third Engineers, Newburgh, N. Y., disappeared March 19.

Barney G. Matthewson, Twenty-fourth Company, Depot Brigade, Worcester, disappeared February 8.

Americo Respaito, C Battery, 301st Field Artillery, Peabody, disappeared February 18.

Five hundred men of the Depot Brigade are soon to be transferred to the four infantry regiments of the Seventy-sixth Division as the first step in the plan to bring the division up to its fighting strength in the near future.

U. S. Sailors Chisel "G" Off Sign on Germania Bank

Charleston, S. C., April 9.—American bluejackets, armed with a hammer and chisel, attacked the Germania Bank, one of the oldest in the city, and cut the letter "G" from the word Germania before they were stopped by the police and provost guards who are now guarding the bank.

The sailors took exception to Old Glory being displayed below the sign of the large bank clock, which they smashed with the "G." The affair caused much excitement, being staged in the detail district of the city at its busiest hour. No arrests were made.

A Tribute to the Navy and Hon. Josephus Daniels, Its Efficient Secretary

RECENTLY The American pointed out the evil which the Republican politicians were doing the nation in her great struggle against German militarism by falsely and publicly asserting that our Government had not efficiently prepared the nation for war and was not capable of efficient preparation. We said that such false assertions tended to make the German people and the German army believe that the declaration of their Government, that the United States could not prepare efficiently in time to be an active and powerful participant in this war, was a true prophecy on the part of the German Government, and that this tended to encourage the German people and the German army to grit their teeth and to bear their losses a little longer, in the conviction that their only effective opponents are France and England.

This whining for partisan purposes by Republican politicians would be unpatriotic and thoroughly bad in its tone and method, even if their assertions about the inefficiency of our Government were true. It is especially unpatriotic because it is false; because our Government had not been inefficient; because our Government has been more efficient than any American Government that ever conducted an American war; because our Government has accomplished more in the same time than any government which has participated in this war, even including Germany.

In the editorial recently discussing these Republican partisan attacks the American promised its readers that it would discuss the achievements of our Government in the different branches of its military preparation. We shall divide the discussion as follows:

1st. The Navy.
2nd. The Army.
3rd. Shipbuilding.
4th. The health and recreation of our soldiers.
5th. The elimination of profiteering and justice to the workingman behind the soldiers.
6th. Government operation of the railroads and the financing of the war.

The Naval Department, which a few months ago was the storm centre of partisan slander and abuse—due, as the American has often pointed out, to the interference of Secretary Daniels with the profiteering plans in the steel and munitions-making world and his protection of the young men in the navy from the corrupting contact of liquor—is but lightly touched upon in the latest campaign of destructive criticism, and the reason for this reticence is not far to seek.

Seldom if ever before has a congressional investigation of a Federal department resulted in a vindication so triumphant and an approval so complete as has been awarded to Secretary Daniels and all departments of the naval administration by the unanimous report of the sub-committee of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, appointed a few months ago to inquire into the activities of the navy since the declaration of war.

THE COMMITTEE FINDS THAT ALL THE GREAT APPROPRIATIONS HAVE BEEN EXPENDED WITH CAUTION AND ECONOMY, THAT THE NAVY HAS MET THE MANY NOVEL AND DIFFICULT SITUATIONS IN SEA WARFARE DUE TO SUBMARINE ACTIVITIES WITH RARE SKILL AND EFFICIENCY, AND WITH A HIGH DEGREE OF SUCCESS; AND THAT ITS SUCCESS HAS BEEN DUE TO ADEQUATE PREPAREDNESS—THE EFFICIENCY OF THE NAVY'S PRE-WAR ORGANIZATION, WHICH HAS NEEDED NO REMODELLING, BUT ONLY EXPANSION OF PERSONNEL TO MEET THE GREATLY INCREASED DEMANDS UPON ITS ACTIVITIES.

The remarkable efficiency of the organization has extended, the Committee finds, to every one of its bureaus. The Bureau of Navigation, charged with the duty of supplying and training both officers and enlisted men, has succeeded in raising the number in the Naval service from 55,000, the total in March, 1917, to approximately 400,000, and has increased the capacity of the regular training stations from 6,000 to more than 50,000 men, providing for the instruction of many more in extra training stations and in schools and colleges where special training in technical courses could be used, and making every vessel in the service, at home and abroad, an active training school for officers and men while carrying out the important duties of convoying transports, chasing submarines, and patrolling the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. More than 1,000 vessels, ranging from battleships and destroyers down to gunboats and converted yachts, have been put in commission by the bureau since last April, AND IT HAS WORKED OUT THE WHOLE PROBLEM OF SUPPLYING AND TRAINING THE WHOLE NUMBER OF OFFICERS AND MEN THAT WILL BE REQUIRED TO MAN THE VESSELS THAT ARE EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED AND IN COMMISSION FOR A YEAR TO COME.

The Medical Department, which was confronted at the beginning of the war with a wide prevalence throughout the country of epidemic diseases of types especially dangerous to new recruits for naval service, met the emergency with precautions which succeeded in maintaining the health of the navy up to the records of times of peace. Ample provisions for war casualties have also been made, including the increase of the capacity of the naval hospitals from 3,800 to more than 15,000 beds, the number of nurses from 150 to 800, and the hospital corps, which will care for the sick and wounded outside the hospitals, from 1,500 to above 9,000.

The Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, consisting at the declaration of war of 128 officers and civilians, expanded its membership to 700 AND HAS SUCCEEDED IN PROVIDING FOR THE PRESENT 1,100 SHIPS AND 3,000,000 MEN AS WELL AND AS PROMPTLY AS THE 300 SHIPS AND 55,000 MEN IN COMMISSION WERE PROVIDED FOR BEFORE THE WAR. By speeding up contracts, which was accomplished largely by sending commissioned officers to the mills and factories to talk to the employes and urge them to increase production to the limit, all the men afloat and at training camps were supplied with adequate Winter clothing, overcoats and blankets, and all the deck crews were especially outfitted wtih waterproof and windproof clothing required for comfort under their peculiar exposure to Wintry weather. To accomplish its great task, the Bureau has disbursed expenditures averaging $30,000,000 A DAY, whereas a few years ago the total outlay OF AN ENTIRE YEAR did not exceed $19,000,000.

The Bureau of Construction and Repairs and the Bureau of Emergency called forth the special commendation of the Committee. THESE BUREAUS HAD MADE EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS BEFORE THE DECLARATION OF WAR, accumulating large stores of material for repairs, placing extensive contracts for stores not ordinarily carried in times of peace, and holding repair ships thoroughly equipped and ready to sail at a few hours' notice, WITH THE RESULT THAT THE DESTROYERS IN THE WAR ZONE HAVE BEEN MAINTAINED IN A HIGH STATE OF EFFICIENCY AND HAVE HAD ALL REPAIRS MADE WITHOUT INTERFERING WITH THEIR ACTIVE SERVICE. For the construction of new destroyers existing shipyards have been expanded, new yards, machine shops and boiler factories built, and great increases in forging facilities for building auxiliary machinery provided, in all doubling the capacity for building destroyers that was available last Summer, and reducing the time required to build and equip a destroyer from two and a half years to less than eighteen months.

By the adoption of novel and ingenious methods of replacement and repair, every one of the 108 interned German ships, all of which had been disabled by their German crews in ways that were supposed by their skippers and engineers to be beyond repair in this country, have been promptly put in shape for active service.

The Bureau of Ordnance is another whose organization has been developed without impairment of its efficiency in any respect, though the expenditures under its charge have increased from $30,000,000 to more than $560,000,000 a year. IT HAS FULLY EQUIPPED WITH GUNS, AMMUNITION, SPARE PARTS AND ALL AUXILIARIES OVER 1,100 VESSELS SINCE MARCH 14, 1917; HAS DEVELOPED NEW SOURCES OF SUPPLY, AND BY EXISTING CONTRACTS AND FACILITIES UNDER ITS CONTROL HAS, IN THE OPINION OF THE COMMITTEE, FULLY COVERED THE NAVY'S NEED OF ORDNANCE DURING THE ENTIRE WAR. The Bureau has developed much new material for anti-submarine warfare, including improved depth charges, submarine bombs, non-ricochet shells, bomb-dropping devices and many more, AND HAS ACCUMULATED AND HOLDS IN STORAGE AN ADEQUATE RESERVE AMMUNITION FOR ALL CLASSES OF GUNS IN USE BY THE FLEET.

The Bureau of Yards and Docks has concluded since December, 1916, 496 contracts, involving a total expenditure of above $96,000,000, for developing the existing yards and providing training camps for the increased personnel. Of these contracts 62 only, mainly for housing and hospital accommodations, were let upon a "cost plus" basis, AND THESE FEW, which were reluctantly entered into for the sake of extra speed, WERE SO CAREFULLY INSPECTED AND SUPERVISED THAT NO ORGY OF WASTE RESULTED, and the Committee found that the interests of the Government had been safely guarded in them all. Noteworthy in this connection is the adoption, in all the latest contracts of the "cost plus" order, of a new modification which gives the contractor not a percentage of the ACTUAL cost, but a definite sum, less than 10 per cent. of the ESTIMATED cost, and provides that if there is a saving over the estimated cost the contractor shall share it with the Government, GIVING HIM AN INCENTIVE TO ECONOMY THAT IS ENTIRELY WANTING IN THE USUAL COST-PLUS-PERCENTAGE AND COST-PLUS-DEFINITE-FEE PLANS.

The Aircraft Department was the only one in which results fully up to expectations had not been realized, but this, in the Committee's opinion, was not due to any lack of zeal or efficiency, but solely to the fact that this was THE ONE DIRECTION IN WHICH, OWING TO THE RAPID DEVELOPMENT OF THE AIRPLANES AND HYDROPLANES SINCE 1914, NO AMOUNT OF FORESIGHT WOULD HAVE ENABLED THE NAVY TO PREPARE ADEQUATELY. The first forces of the United States to land in France for service against the enemy, however, were the Naval Aeronautic detachments, and while they have been rendering invaluable service abroad, the Department at home has been doing its utmost to increase the power and efficiency of our air fleet. Flying boats and sea planes of improved types have been devised, a plant for their construction on a large scale has been constructed in record time, and the Committee declared that, with the perfection of the Liberty Motor now achieved, it was confident that the requirements of this vital branch of the naval and land armaments would soon be fully met.

Probably no public or private organization in the history of the world was ever more highly, rapidly, methodically, smoothly, silently expanded than our great navy under Secretary Josephus Daniels.
